Gulick Farm Property Acquired by Township In a $2.7 Million Deal

Princeton Township recently announced that it has closed a $2.7 million transaction to acquire most of the Gulick Farm property off Princeton-Kingston Road.

According to the deal, the Township has obtained approximately 28 acres of the roughly 40-acre property, which it will set aside for undeveloped open space.

Edwin Schmierer, the Township Attorney, stated that he expects the property to remain dormant for three to five years. "There are currently no development plans for the property," he said.

According to Mr. Schmierer, the land could eventually be utilized for either exclusive passive recreation or a combination of passive and active recreation. It would not, however, be developed for any residential or commercial use. "We wanted to preserve the farm, and we wanted to ensure that that kind of over-development does not take place," he said.

Mr. Schmierer indicated that, in the meantime, the Township will focus its development efforts on the properties at Greenway Meadows and the athletic fields on Winant Coventry Farm off The Great Road.

The transaction also includes the purchase of the development rights to the remaining ten acres of land on the Gulick property, though that portion of the property will remain under the ownership of the Gulick family.

As part of the deal, the Township has imposed a historical conservation easement on the property by which that ten acres cannot be subdivided or resold in the future in any manner other than the full ten-acre property.

In addition, the Gulick family will commit $668,000 from the $2.7 million deal toward the renovation and preservation of the main house and ten historic structures and outbuildings which stand on that ten acres. Those renovations will take place within three to five years and will be overseen by the farm's present owner, Benjamin Gulick.

Also stipulated within the deal is

RCN Must Rebuild Its System for New Franchise

The renewal of cable provider RCN's current franchise, which is set to expire in October 2003, is dependant upon a rebuild of its existing system, stated Princeton officials Monday night.

"If there isn't a rebuild, then there isn't a franchise," said Borough Mayor Marvin Reed at a joint public hearing at which members of both the Borough Council and the Township Committee heard testimony from representatives of RCN and the Princeton Joint Cable TV Committee.

Thomas Steel, vice president and regulatory counsel for RCN, indicated that the company is dedicated to rebuilding its system with high-speed fiber-optics and that he believes that the rebuild can be completed within 18 months at a cost of roughly $5.5 million.

Despite such statements, some Princeton officials expressed doubt about RCN's ability to provide cable service. Citing previously unkept promises regarding a rebuild and RCN's questionable financial viability, Township Committee member Leonard Godfrey asked, "Why should we believe you now?"

Mr. Steel responded by stating that although many companies in the telecommunications industry had suffered financial difficulties recently, RCN will be financially viable through at least 2006 and thus has the cash available to complete the rebuild in Princeton.

"We have enough money to do what we need to do," he said. Indicating that the rebuild will supply increased revenue and a broader customer base, he added, "We're here to stay."

Mr. Steel also stated that the rebuild will provide more expansive cable service with increased channel options, a two-way cable modem service, and support for public access television. He added that RCN customers will no longer need a converter and that cable rates will be frozen during the rebuilding process.

Graffiti Spree in Princeton May Signify Gang Activity

Princeton has long been considered one of the safest towns around, but now that reputation is in jeopardy after it was revealed last week that it may be the site of a turf war between two Mexican gangs.

Three members of the 18th Street Gang were arrested in New Brunswick on April 24 in connection with a series of drive-by shootings over a three-month period in New Brunswick last year, it was announced by state police.

Miguel Huerta, 20, Antonio Pena, 21, and Angel Juarez, 23, are all charged with attempted murder. All three admitted to state police investigators last week that the 18th Street Gang was responsible for last year's gang graffiti spree in Princeton. The reason for the acts of vandalism? Because a rival Mexican gang, Los Primos, invaded the 18th Street Gang's Princeton territory.

Gang Activity

The link to New Brunswick was confirmed by Street Gang Unit detectives in New Jersey, and sheriff's investigators from Middlesex County. They formed a task force which investigated the drive-by shootings in New Brunswick. The shootings began in November of last year, at roughly the same time as the 18th Street Gang's graffiti spree. A fourth member of the 18th Street Gang, identified as Agustina Gonzalez Vasquez, 22, of New Brunswick, was arrested on drug possession charges as a result of the task force's sweep.

The vandalism in Princeton began near the end of November last year when a van parked on Spring Street was found with the number 18 and the gang's symbol, "XV3" painted on it. The same symbol was found on the outside walls of the Garden Theatre, the Historical Society, and the Lamplighter Bookstore, all on Nassau Street, a phone booth, a mailbox, and several other businesses between November and December.

The 18th Street Gang, which has approximately 40,000 members nationwide, is a violent group based in Los Angeles which has been linked to hundreds of murders. The gang targets areas with large or growing Hispanic populations, and is alleged to have placed $25,000 cash bounties on the heads of police officers.

Princeton Borough Police Chief Charles Davall disagrees that there is any turf war evident in Princeton. He said last year's graffiti was the work of one gang member, who has since moved out of the area.

Family Guidance Center To Honor David L. Lewis

Family Guidance Center will honor Dr. David Levering Lewis, two time Pulitzer winner and Professor of History at Rutgers, on Thursday, May 9, at Trenton Country Club. Also to be honored is Dr. Dorothy Rubin, Professor of Education at the College of New Jersey, and columnist The Rev. Dr. Willie Smith.

The evening will include a silent auction, hors d'oeuvres, and book signing by Dr. Lewis. The proceeds will benefit Family Guidance Center's mental health and social service programs.

Family Guidance Center is a Mercer County-based nonprofit education, healthcare and social service agency. For more information about the Center's programs or the reception, call 924-1320.

UP TO THE CHALLENGE: Robby Oberleitner, pictured with his parents Ron and Sharon, will be participating in the new Challenger Division within Princeton Little League. Robby, who suffers from a form of autism, will join other children with physical and mental handicaps this season to play baseball.

Challenger Division to Provide Opportunity For Special Needs Youth to Play Baseball

On Sunday, Robby Oberleitner will step onto a baseball field to play a game with other Princeton youth. An energetic 9-year-old, Robby suffers from a form of autism.

This season, Princeton Little League is introducing its Challenger Division, a program that will allow physically or mentally challenged youth an opportunity to play organized baseball according to their abilities.

The first program of its kind in Princeton, the league will hold games every Sunday at 1 in the afternoon at Community Park Elementary School.

"It's a great help to the special needs community that this baseball league will be coming to Princeton," said Ron Oberleitner, Robby's father. "Princeton has always been a very accepting and supportive place, and now it's great that we won't have to travel to find this kind of activity for Robby."

Two years ago, Robby participated in a similar league in Hillsborough.

TOPICS Of the Town

"We know that he enjoyed playing baseball in the past, even though he couldn't tell us," said Sharon Oberleitner, Robby's mother. "We're hoping this will be a successful year for us all."

According to Deborah Martin Norcross, the vice president of Princeton Little League, six children and their families have signed up to participate in the new Challenger Division.

Open to children from age 5 through high school, the program will enable children with physical or mental disabilities to play baseball and to develop sportsmanship and team skills in an environment tailored to their needs and abilities.

Buddy System

The league will provide each player with team uniforms and a "buddy," who will assist the player in any manner necessary. "This part of the program will make the game better and more fun for the players," said Ms. Martin Norcross, "as well as offer other kids who love playing baseball an opportunity to play it in a new way by helping some of our special needs kids."

Most of the youth participating in the league suffer from varying degrees of autism.

A complex developmental disability and neurological disorder that typically appears during the first three years of life, autism adversely affects the development of a child's social interaction and communication skills.

To date, its cause is unknown, though a variety of causes — including the confluence of genetic predispositions, food allergies, pollution, and preservatives in certain vaccines — has been proposed.

According to the Autism Society of America (ASA), more than one million individuals within the United States suffer from one in a series of autistic disorders, collectively known as pervasive developmental disorders. The condition is thus five times as common as Down syndrome and three times as common as juvenile diabetes.

The ASA also reports that autism is four times more prevalent in boys than in girls and that it extends beyond all racial, ethnic, and social boundaries.

"This is a national health crisis," said Mr. Oberleitner, who biked across the country last summer in an effort to raise awareness of autism and funds for autism research.

Though Robby's progress as a baby was considered normal, he began to digress by the age of 18 months, when he lost the speaking abilities that he had gained.

Autistic children are often socially withdrawn, developing bizarre obsessions, becoming preoccupied with repetition and routine, and struggling to acquire spoken language, yet often possessing significant intellectual gifts.

"It's as if your own child is being kidnapped right in front of you," said Mr. Oberleitner.

One of the greatest problems facing the Oberleitners was obtaining a proper diagnosis. Referring to doctors who misdiagnosed their son's condition while they were living in Texas, Mrs. Oberleitner said, "They told us there was nothing we could do."

Shortly thereafter, the Oberleitners, both of whom are originally from the Princeton area, moved back to New Jersey. Once in the area again, they availed themselves of the resources in Princeton and soon obtained a correct diagnosis.

"Once we knew the diagnosis, we began to plan to help Robby reach his full potential," said Mr. Oberleitner.

"With autism, there's so much that you just don't know," said Mrs. Oberleitner. "Children such as Robby can't communicate whether or not they want to do something. It's kind of a guessing game."

But given his previous experience in Hillsborough, the Oberleitners are confident that the Challenger Division will be a great asset to Robby and other special needs youth.

"This is another chance for special needs kids to be active and to enjoy something as American as baseball," said Mr. Oberleitner. "It represents something so helpful."

The Oberleitners, who have two other children — Will, age 16, and Cassie, age 10 — acknowledge that both their family and their location may be exceptions within the autistic community.

"We're very appreciative that we're doing as well as we are," said Mrs. Oberleitner. "Robby's brother and sister are very helpful with him. They drag him into everything, and they're incredibly proud of him."

With institutions such as the Princeton Child Development Institute and the Eden Institute, the Princeton area has attracted a significant number of families with special needs children.

"We're very fortunate to live here," said Mr. Oberleitner. "It's been a wonderful place to us."

Robby currently attends a private school for autistic children that includes an individual education program specialized according to his needs, and he has begun to show progress.

In fact, Robby has recently begun to speak, spelling and forming words. "It blows me away how much is in him that I never knew about," said Mrs. Oberleitner. "This is an exciting time for our family."

Medical Center Wants to Be A Special Place for Mothers

Many babies born in Princeton see the first light of day at the Medical Center at Princeton, where Dr. Daniel Shapiro chairs the Ob/Gyn Department and Robyn D'Oria directs Women's and Family Services.

Working on the premise that the more an expectant mother can learn about pregnancy, the better, the medical center offers a number of classes ranging in length from six weeks to a one-day review course.

Other classes range from grandparenting courses, to infant and child safety classes, to a breast-feeding class and support group.

When an expectant mother arrives at the medical center to have her baby, she is taken to an attractively furnished private room where she'll likely spend her entire hospital stay.

"The single-room maternity care means once you're here, we bring everything to you," says Ms. D'Oria. "Any necessary medical equipment is brought in and, after the baby is born, the equipment is taken out and it looks very much like a hotel room."

Each of the rooms contains a bed that converts to a delivery bed; a sleeper sofa for the new mother's partner; a rocking chair; a dinette set; a mini-refrigerator; and a large bathroom with shower.

Patients delivering at the medical center are assured that a range of anesthesia options is available to them. The expectant mother is encouraged to discuss these options with her physician.

Rooming-In Encouraged

While rooming-in is encouraged, a nursery is available il the baby requires closer monitoring or if the mother needs rest. All nurses are trained in mother and infant care, and the majority are also trained in labor and delivery.

Every maternity nurse is educated and trained in breast-feeding, and several lactation consultants are on staff. Neonatologists are available 24 hours a day and medical geneticists are available weekly for genetic testing.

"Word of mouth is a great place to start if you want to find out about a hospital's childbirth services," said Ms. D'Oria. "Other parents can tell you about those little things that really make a difference — like how attentive the hospital staff is to the mother's and baby's needs."

She also recommends a hospital tour early in pregnancy. "During a tour, parents can ask how the hospital handles different situations," she said.

If a baby is born early or needs specialized care, state-of-the-art neonatal services are available at the medical center. Its Level II Special Care Nursery, established in 1989, houses the latest technology, including new radiant warmer beds, special ventilators for babies, temperature-controlled beds called isolettes, and other specialized equipment.

Lecture on Regionalism Sponsored by Isles

Myron Orfield, director of the Minnesota-based Metropolitan Area Research Corporation, will present a public lecture titled, "Regionalism as a Tool for Economic Growth and Social Justice," at 4:30 p.m. on Wednesday, May 1 in Dodds Auditorium on the campus of Princeton University.

Mr. Orfield's presentation, sponsored by the Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs and Isles, Inc., a non-profit community development and environmental organization based in Trenton, will focus on the issues of sprawl and concentrated poverty.

The Metropolitan Area Research Corporation (MARC) is a non-profit research and geographic information systems firm with a history of service to the public interest, government, philanthropy, academia, and private research institutions.

MARC has been contracted by the New Jersey Regional Federation — a coalition of housing, environmental, planning and faith-based agencies co-founded and co-managed by Isles — to analyze and map data statewide about the socioeconomic impact of sprawl on New Jersey.

In addition to serving as director of MARC, Mr. Orfield also serves as a Minnesota state senator. A former special assistant attorney general of Minnesota, he is an adjunct professor at the University of Minnesota Law School. In 1998, Mr. Orfield introduced an innovative program for combating the seemingly inevitable decline of America's metropolitan communities.

Through a combination of demographic research, state-of-the-art mapping, and pragmatic politics, his book, Metropolitics, revealed how the different regions of St. Paul and Minneapolis pulled together to form a regional government powerful enough to tackle the community's problems of sprawl and urban decay.

The lecture is free and open to the public.

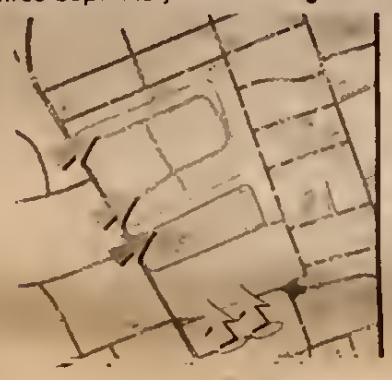
Three Separately Functioning Areas



A Summary of what the neighbors of Zone 3 said:

- Make linkages through this area that unify the entire community
- Make this area a neighborhood that is like the other neighborhoods: open, permeable, connected to its neighbors.
- Increase the density, while preserving the green and open spaces.
- Make a place where the three institutions collaborate - to make it a place where people learn to walk, to exercise, to baby-sit, to walk downtown to volunteer and tutor.
- Make this the real place we want, where we think about our culture, our people, our values.

Open Space, Character & Use

- This is the largest open space near Downtown. It is a huge opportunity and responsibility for us.
- These are three beloved institutions. This is an important point.
- Bayard Lane is a great historic approach to Princeton
- The J/W neighborhood is small scale, interactive, multi-use: it has independent shops, schools, playground, restaurants, churches.
- Half the boundary of the area is made up of the rear yards of John Street & Leigh Avenue homes
- We should call this place "Green Hill".
- Make open space for all; think of the commonality of the all folks who come.
- "I'm from Willamette. There are no playgrounds nearby. Amazing."
- "We need housing for the elderly. We currently put them on ice flows and send them to Jamesburg." (Niels Nielson)
- Suggested uses:
  - ~ grocery store
  - ~ laundry
  - ~ community garden
  - ~ senior housing
  - ~ playground
  - ~ skate park (Reggie Jeffries)

Re-Connecting the Town

- Route 206 divides our town into 1/3 – 2/3: we have to think about making Princeton integral again. (Sandy Solomon)
- I have 3 children; I would love to walk them to school. Crossing 206 is extremely daunting. (Celia Tazelaar)
- Walking parallel to Route 206 is not pleasant or safe; we don't even have a sidewalk.
- We are so close to downtown; it is too bad we can't take advantage of it. (Bo Honore)
- We may have to look for more traffic lights on Bayard Lane (applause)
- There are three existing informal walking connections between this site and John St.
- This should be a place where you
  - ~ can learn to walk again at Merwick,
  - ~ become more active at the Y,
  - ~ provide baby sitting for the babies in Stanworth,
  - ~ walk to town to do volunteer work and to tutor at the Library. (Dick Fenn)
- I am hearing something very encouraging: pedestrian connectiveness. Over the years we have heard the opposite, about fears of strangers coming in, which closes off neighborhoods. (Pam Hersh)
- This should be a permeable neighborhood, like the other neighborhoods.
- There is a dumb, natural, big, straight-forward solution that suggests itself: make this into a neighborhood that is connected to the other neighborhoods. (Ron Berlin)

What the institutions observed:

The Princeton Medical Center at Merwick

- The historic character of the landscape and the original building must be preserved.
- Historically the old building is fragile, as one of the original series of estates here.
- The site doesn't appear large enough to support a complete senior care facility.
- There are other aspects of elder care that can be developed here.
- Question: The Hospital is asking to develop 100,000 sf on Witherspoon St. What should happen at Bayard Lane? We must be holistic about this. (Mayor Reed)

Princeton University at Stanworth

- There are 120 units on 10 acres at Stanworth – not a high density.
- The density could be increased. Replace 1 story buildings with 3 story buildings, and still have the same open space.
- The University has been asked to provide more affordable housing for its own staff, in the community.

The YMCA & the YWCA

- As much as 50% of the activities take place off site.
- We are looking for options. We are limited by our parking capacity.
- The pool is constantly used. Swimming is a major activity here.
- We need a total of 300 parking spaces (about double what we have now).

New Connections

Automobile A Unified Plan Pedestrian

General Observation: There was a sense that the institutions wished to collaborate

Tools to accomplish these objectives

- The Three Institutions Create an Overall, Collaborative Plan
- Build New Roads, Intersections, Crosswalks
- Build New Community Walkways
- Share Parking
- Provide Community Amenities such as a Community Green or Garden
- Revise the Zoning to Support the Plan

Students Accused Of Throwing Planter Through Club Window

Two Princeton University students may face charges from Borough police as the result of criminal mischief that occurred outside the Ivy Club on Prospect Avenue last Sunday.

Police said the students, whose identities were not revealed, threw a flower planter through the window of the club after they were refused entry. The club president is considering signing criminal complaints against the suspects, but at press time, had not done so.

A 27-year-old Borough man was the victim of a credit card theft which occurred on April 16 at 3:30.

Police said someone used the man's Visa check card, which was accidentally left in the ATM machine at PNC Bank on Nassau Street, to withdraw $800 from his account.

Police are investigating an incident of harassment that occurred at a Witherspoon Street apartment on April 20 at 12:40 p.m. The 18-year-old victim was elbowed by an individual that he described as being intoxicated.

The suspect, described as a Hispanic male, approximately 5'6, elbowed the victim after a conversation in his apartment. The accused fled prior to the arrival of Ptl. James Martinez.

A Princeton University student was arrested last Sunday and charged with driving while intoxicated. Sgt. Curtis Vanchoff and Ptl. James Doyle stopped the accused, 22-year-old Emily Eynon, for operating a golf cart on Olden Street.

Subsequent to the stop, the officers determined that Eynon had operated the cart while intoxicated. She was processed and released after being charged with DWI and other motor vehicle offenses.

Police are searching for three robbery suspects who punched two men and stole their wallets last Saturday. The victims, a 28-year-old Witherspoon Street man and a 34-year-old John Street man, had cash in the amount of $360 stolen.

The suspects were described as black males. One was said to be 6', and was wearing braids in his hair. He was also wearing a blue jacket and blue jeans.

Someone entered the bedroom of a Hamilton Avenue woman at 3:50 a.m. last Sunday and stole her credit cards.

The suspect used the cards to make purchases and cash withdrawals of approximately $600 at various banks and stores in the Princeton area.

Ten Babies Born Last Week At the Medical Center

Ten babies were born in the week ending April 25 at the Medical Center at Princeton.

Sons were born to Geoff Pardo and Lissa Galluccio, Princeton, and Curtis and Sunny Holman, Princeton, both on April 19; Jae and Kyung Herh, Plainsboro, April 21 and Duen-Jeng Low and Mei Ling Chong, Plainsboro; April 25.

Daughters were born to Jeffrey Russo and Nahla Azmy, Princeton; and Zoeb Merchant and Iram Ahmedi, Princeton, both on April 22; Dennis Bendy and May A. Humbard, West Windsor, April 24; Roger and Toni Van-Der-Marel, West Windsor, April 24; Todd and Michele Fromer, Princeton Junction, April 25; and Brian and Dr. Jill Chevlin, West Windsor, April 25.

Underage Drinking Continues to Concern Borough Council

Little has been heard publicly since last October about the possibility of Princeton Borough enacting an ordinance that would permit police to enforce underage drinking laws on private property. At that time, in a forum sponsored by Princeton University's Whig-Clio society, representatives of town and gown discussed the potential ordinance.

Borough Police Chief Charles Davall told the forum that, since the University's opening a month earlier, seven students had been taken to the Medical Center by ambulance because of alcohol consumption, and that all seven were under 21.

In the months since October, the Borough's Public Safety Committee has been discussing whether to recommend such an ordinance to Council. Mildred Trotman said last Tuesday night that the issue had been discussed many times at the committee, but that no recommendation had been made. She said the Public Safety Committee had decided to refer the question back to full Council and to ask for input from all members of the concerned public.

Passage of such an ordinance has been recommended by the Mercer County prosecutor, said Mayor Marvin Reed, and has been adopted by Ewing and Lawrence townships. Both municipalities have colleges within their borders, respectively The College of New Jersey and Rider University.

The real debate, said Mr. Reed, is over what happens when police get a call, for a reason such as noise, and go in to a private house. There they find people under age 21 drinking. "What do they do with all those underage students?" asked the Mayor.

David Goldfarb pointed out that the ordinance under discussion does not permit police to enter private property just to see if underage drinking is going on. But they can enter if they are there for another reason.

Roger Martindell suggested the question of the ordinance be referred to the Princeton Alcohol and Drug Alliance and Corner House.

"The consequence of taking this course of action is that nothing will be done, responded Mr. Goldfarb. "This is something we need to act on. If it were a biological disease, we would be on top of the Health Commission."

Only a Matter of Time

Mr. Goldfarb, worried about a recent study that indicated a high level of binge drinking on campus, said, "Somebody died at Dartmouth. Somebody died at M.I.T. It's only a matter of time before somebody dies at Princeton."

He added, "Until I became a volunteer firefighter I had no idea what Prospect Avenue (site of the University eating clubs) looks like at 3 a.m. on a typical weekend. I think everybody here would be surprised." He elaborated no further.

Wendy Benchley said Council should ask the University what it is doing in conjunction with Corner House, but pointed out that the problem is not confined to the University. "There is binge drinking by high school students, and there are private parties in town," she said.

Mayor Reed said he has seen some improvement in the way the eating clubs operate as well as a new movement at the University to examine its policies on alcohol. This has resulted, he said, in campus security making unannounced sweeps of dorms on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday nights. In addition, students are requesting alcohol-free dorms and are complaining about the effects of others' overindulgence on them.

A meeting to discuss the possible ordinance will be scheduled in the fall, when students return to campus, said Mayor Reed. In the meantime, he asked that Council members educate themselves as to what Princeton University, Princeton Alcohol and Drug Alliance, and Corner House are doing to address the problem of underage drinking.

Charter School Students Win State Awards

Recently, two students from Princeton Charter School won awards from the New Jersey Council of Teachers of English.

Sixth grader Lizzie Gelernter tied for second place with a short story that she wrote. Third grader Daniel Taub tied for first place with a poem that he wrote about World War I.

The students will receive their awards in May at a ceremony to be held in Metuchen.

Anne Martindell Will Graduate at 87 from Smith College

Like so many others in Princeton, a student is waiting to complete her "final, final exam" scheduled for Monday so she can focus more of her attention on graduation. But there is one difference. The student, Anne C. Martindell, will be celebrating her 88th birthday on July 18.

Mrs. Martindell will graduate from Smith College in Northampton, Mass., on May 19, having returned to the school she attended for a year in 1933. In addition to being the oldest person to graduate from Smith, she will be the first Smith student to receive an undergraduate degree and an honorary degree at the same time.

Anne C. Martindell

Mother of four, grandmother of nine, and great-grandmother of five, most of her family members will be at the commencement ceremony. A crew from NBC's Today show is filming her at home in Princeton and in Northampton for a profile that will run the week after commencement.

College was where the young Princeton woman wanted to be, but her desires conflicted with the expectations of her family, particularly her father, a federal judge in New Jersey. Higher education, he believed, was not necessary for a young woman. Her role was to make a suitable marriage and have children.

Accompanied by her mother, who was more supportive of her desire to go to college, Anne Clark first arrived on the Smith campus in the family's chauffeur-drive Lincoln. Her trunk, which had been sent ahead, had been packed by the family's French maid.

She stayed one year. "I was planning to major in political science. My parents talked about politics. My father insisted my focus should be on going to parties and meeting young men. I did not make the decision to leave. He did," she says.

She was married twice, the first time at 19. Her husband was a broker on Wall Street and she, holding onto her dream of a college degree, and expecting a child, enrolled at Barnard.

At registration, the question of exercise came up. She said she loved to swim and that her doctor said it was all right. "No," she was told. "We don't think so. The girls will see you."

Mrs. Martindell found the time to return to college only after she retired from a successful career in politics. She was deputy director of George McGovern's 1972 presidential campaign and had served as vice chairman of the New Jersey Democratic Party. In 1973, she was elected to the New Jersey State Senate and in 1979 was appointed U.S. Ambassador to New Zealand by President Jimmy Carter. Prior to her ambassadorship, she directed the U.S. Office of Foreign Disaster Assistance, a job which led to her traveling throughout the world.

Her involvement with politics, she says, was kindled by going to the 1968 Democratic National Convention in Chicago with her son, Roger Martindell, 17 at the time.

Comstock Scholar

Mrs. Martindell studied at Smith as part of The Ada Comstock Scholars Program, which was founded by former Smith president Jill Kerr Conway. It offers a flexible academic environment for women from their 20's to their mid-80's to return for a degree. And it provides an opportunity for the young women of Smith to relate and feel comfortable with women who are older but are still their peers in the classroom.

Comstock Scholars are required to spend two years on the Smith campus, but Mrs. Martindell had to spend only one, since she had spent a year there back in 1933. When she returned from Northampton she took several courses at Princeton University. The students were very polite, but seemed to wonder what this elderly woman, albeit a charming one, was doing in their classroom.

This changed, she said, and she began to have a wonderful time with the students. She remembers with special pleasure the time they were all talking about graduation and she told them about her large family and many friends. "They must be proud of you," said a student. "We are."

She began her quest for a degree in American Studies at Mercer County Community College and also took classes at Rider University. "It wasn't easy. It got easier as time went on," she said. "It was a really wonderful experience. I learned a lot of things I didn't know."

The working title of the memoir she is writing is Never Too Late, and this expresses her feelings about returning to college. "It's not too late. It stimulates your mind. I can't tell you what an experience it was."

With her diploma nearly in hand, she relates with a smile what her trainer recently told her. "You proved you can improve your mind. Now let's see if you can improve the rest of you."

Kids-for-Kids Walkathon Set For Saturday

Walk-for-Chalk 2002, the seventh annual Kids-for-Kids of New Jersey walkathon, will be held at the Princeton High School track on Saturday, May 5 from 12 to 4:30.

Most of the funds from Walk-for-Chalk will be used to buy new backpacks and school supplies for needy children, with a portion of the money raised to be used to purchase prosthetic legs for Jorge, a four-year-old quadruple amputee from Panama.

The length of the walkathon will be ten laps around the track, or approximately 2.5 miles. Besides the walk itself, the day's activities will include carnival booths and games, a raffle for great prizes donated by local stores, food, and a DJ and karaoke.

Kids-for-Kids of New Jersey was founded in 1995 by 18-year-old Carly Rothman — now a senior at Princeton High School — when she was eleven years old. Since then, the teen-run organization has raised over $75,000 — through six walkathons and a $10,000 grant from Cover Girl Cosmetics — and has organized hundreds of parties, field trips, and other activities for underprivileged and special needs children throughout the state.

Currently, Kids-for-Kids has seven chapters, including chapters at Princeton High School, West Windsor-Plainsboro High School, Hopewell Valley Central High School, Columbia High School in Maplewood, and River Edge High School in River Edge.

Ms. Rothman got the idea for Walk-for-Chalk in 1997, when she and her sister purchased the school supplies for the start of their school year. She has pointed out that all school-aged children need appropriate supplies to achieve academic success and that this need is frequently not met for children in shelters or struggling families.

By running Walk-for-Chalk and distributing new supplies, Kids-for-Kids gives such children a chance to start off their school year with the supplies they need to succeed.

Children, teenagers, families, youth groups, schools, offices, religious organizations, and other groups are encouraged to participate. For information or to register, call 279-0634, e-mail K4KNJ@aol.com, or write to Kids-for-Kids, P.O. Box 1147, Princeton.

WELCOMING MAY: Nursery and kindergarten students from the Waldorf School of Princeton recently welcomed the month of May with their annual Maypole Dance.

Young Achievers To Sponsor Art Auction

Princeton Young Achievers (PYA) will sponsor an Art Auction on Saturday, May 4 at 8 p.m. at Princeton University's Third World Center, 86 Olden Street.

Proceeds from the auction will support PYA's afterschool and summer educational programs for youth that live in affordable housing in Princeton.

The auction will have 150 to 200 works by regional and national artists available, and the artwork will include etchings, watercolors, oil paintings, and photographs. A preview of the artwork will be held prior to the auction, from 7 to 8. In addition, refreshments and door prizes will be provided.

Admission is $10 per person or $15 per couple. For tickets or information about the art auction, contact Dana Hughes at 806-4216 or Caroline Mitchell at 806-4203.

Princeton Young Achievers is a local non-profit organization that provides academic support to more than 125 local children in its afterschool programs at Clay Street Learning Center, Redding Circle, and Princeton Community Village and through its Multicultural Summer Camp.

The goal of PYA is to increase children's academic self-confidence and overall love for learning. For more information about PYA, contact Ann Marie Grocholski at 806-4216.

Community Park School To Host Kids' Book Fair

Borough Takes Steps To Select Developer For Garage Complex

The large, empty lot on the corner of Witherspoon and Wiggins streets will eventually be home to more than a doubled-in-size public library, as Princeton Borough continues to move forward with plans to construct a garage on the site.

Borough Council at its meeting last Tuesday night agreed on a plan to select a contractor for the garage complex, which will also include apartments and retail shops. The process will begin April 30, when Council is expected to meet in closed session with the Atlantic Group, its own consultant on the project. Together, the governing body and its consultant will evaluate proposals from the two finalists selected in March from the five developers who had made proposals. The two are Nassau Capital Advisors LLC of Princeton and Keating Development of Bala Cynwyd, Pa. (with the Mercer County Improvement Authority).

The two proposals will be evaluated with an eye toward how they compare with each other and how they compare with the original development plan designed by Princeton Future.

On May 7, again in closed session, Council will interview each of the finalists. On or before Tuesday, May 14, the Borough hopes to announce which of the developers has been selected.

A special meeting is planned for Tuesday evening, May 21, when the developer selected by Mayor and Council will present plans for the complex to the public and will take questions. After that, Council will work out a developers' agreement with the chosen firm.

Although Mayor Reed said he wanted to keep the selection of a developer "as open a public process as possible," the scenario he laid out last week states that the meetings that will lead to the naming of a developer will both be closed to the public.

In a letter published in the April 17 edition of Town Topics, and addressed to Mayor Reed, Princeton Future Co-chairs Robert Geddes, Robert F. Goheen, and Sheldon Sturges said they were somewhat troubled by the way in which potential developers' presentations for the Park & Shop Lot are being heard and assessed in closed sessions. They also expressed concern at Council's seeming to consider plan revisions favoring markedly greater economic return as against the balance of economic, social and physically attractive gains endorsed in the General Development Plan previously approved by Council.

"Significant Objections"

At last Tuesday's Council meeting, Mayor Reed said he had heard significant objections to two aspects of the original plan. He said he was questioned as to whether the wanted to build a bridge over Spring Street (something that would be done only if the Spring Street metered lot were developed at a later date); and whether he garage should include underground parking. "These are costly ways to park cars," he said.

The first phase of the plan, which does not include constructing a garage on the Spring Street lot, is estimated to cost $12.7 million and provide 354 parking spaces.

Original plans approved by Council last August called for a new three-story garage on the Park and Shop lot to provide spaces for patrons of the new library as well as to meet other parking needs. In addition to cafes, shops, apartments, and open walkways, a public plaza was included, as was a building housing offices and shops on Witherspoon Street, in the entrance to the Spring Street metered lot. It has been reported that new plans might include more apartments than the original 18 and fewer garage spaces.

In March, Council was looking toward naming a developer in mid-May, with groundbeaking planned for this fall. —Myrna K. Bearse

Princeton Man Wins Volvo in Red Cross Raffle

The American Red Cross of Central New Jersey held its sixth annual Gala on March 23, at which time, the winner of the 2002 Volvo Cross Country Wagon was announced.

Gerardo Torres of Princeton, the winner, was visiting family in Guatemala at the time of the drawing, but upon his return was soon contacted to pick up his new car.

Mr. Torres was delivering for FedEx to the American Red Cross of Central New Jersey office in Princeton, when he saw the car parked outside. He hesitated to purchase a ticket and left the building, but after passing by the car again, decided to come back in and purchased a chance.

Mr. Torres was invited to pick up the car from Volvo of Princeton and was greeted by members of Volvo Cars of North America as well as the Long Motor Company. He was also presented an American Red Cross First Aid Kit by Kevin Sullivan, CEO of the American Red Cross of Central New Jersey.

Proceeds from the raffle will benefit the local programs and services of the American Red Cross of Central New Jersey.

PDS Students Receive HS Journalism Awards

Several students at Princeton Day School recently received awards in Temple University's 58th Annual High School Press Tournament.

Winners representing the school's student newspaper, The Spokesmon, included Brian Smith, who earned the first place award for computer-aided reporting; Erin McCormick, who earned first place in speech reporting; Thomas Bohnett, who finished in third place for editorial writing; and David Ostro, who took third place in editorial cartooning.

More than 300 student journalists representing 23 high schools throughout Pennsylvania, New Jersey, and Delaware competed in the tournament, which is sponsored by the department of journalism, public relations, and advertising in Temple's School of Communications and Theater.

In addition to the competition, students also spent the day at Temple's Main Campus in Philadelphia attending workshops led by Temple professors and media professionals.

School Board Swears In New Members, Gives Superintendent a New Contract

On Tuesday, April 23, the Princeton Regional School Board welcomed its new and returning members by swearing in the winners of the April 16 School Board election.

Jeffrey Spear, Walter Bliss, and Michael Mostoller were sworn in to begin their new three-year terms. Mr. Spear is beginning his second term, while both Mr. Bliss and Mr. Mostoller are beginning their first terms of service on the board.

At that meeting, the School Board also elected its officers for the new term. With a unanimous vote, Charlotte Blalek was elected the president of the board and Anne Burns was elected its vice president.

In related news, at a special meeting on Monday, April 29, the School Board voted unanimously to grant Superintendent Claire Sheff Kohn a new contract.

In accordance with state regulations that restrict the length of school administrative contracts to five years, the board rescinded Dr. Kohn's current contract, which ran through June 30, 2006, and put a new contract in its place.

The new contract will be effective from July 1, 2002 through June 30, 2007, and it will include a salary increase of four percent to $162,240.

Dr. Kohn, who has been employed as the superintendent of the school system since July 1, 2000, said, "I am delighted that the board is demonstrating its confidence in me through this new contract."

Princeton Couple Supports Child Health Institute

Princeton residents Audrey S. Gould and Dr. Kenneth S. Gould have pledged $250,000 to the Foundation of UMDNJ to endow a new lecture series at the Child Health Institute of New Jersey (CHINJ) of the UMDNJ-Robert Wood Johnson Medical School.

"This lecture series allows our institution to continually advance the knowledge of medicine and science. The Child Health Institute is fortunate that benefactors like the Goulds support programs that will touch the lives of many for generations to come," said Harold L. Paz, MD, dean of the UMDNJ-Robert Wood Johnson Medical School.

"We wanted to create a program that would grow," said Audrey Gould. "After long, careful thought, we decided to endow a lecture series focused on the changing ways of treating children with genetically-caused diseases. The series will promote cutting edge research and advance the ongoing educational endeavors of the institute."

UMDNJ-Robert Wood Johnson Medical School founded the Child Health Institute to foster and expand research into the causes of children's diseases and disorders — asthma, autism, sickle cell disease and a host of others. Ground will be broken in September for a new 100,000 square foot research facility in New Brunswick; completion is expected in 2004.

The Institute will be adjacent to the Bristol-Myers Squibb Children's Hospital of the Robert Wood Johnson University Hospital, and will serve as a vital link — academically and physically — between the research bench and the patient bedside.

The Goulds, whose two daughters also live in Princeton, have supported a number of organizations in and around Princeton. Mrs. Gould, who is an investment counselor for Prudential Financial in Princeton, is a member of the Board of Directors of CHINJ. She has also served on the boards of the Children's Home Society, the Girl Scouts of America, Delaware Valley Chapter and on the advisory cabinet of the Mason Gross School of the Arts of Rutgers University.

Dr. Gould began his career as a pediatrician and then trained as a psychiatrist, joining the faculty of the former Rutgers Medical School (now UMDNJ Robert Wood Johnson Medical School), where he rose to the rank of professor of clinical psychiatry. He also maintained a private practice in adult and child psychiatry, and is now a volunteer faculty member at the medical school.

Oaxacan Quesadilla

This dish is inspired by Oaxoca (pronounced Wha-Ha-Ca) o region in Mexico that is fomous for its Moles and Chiles. This quesadilla contains Cuitlocoche (pronounced hweet-la-Ko-chay) also known as corn smut. Cuitlacoche is a fungus that grows on eors of corn and couses the kernels to balloon np and turn block. Cuitlacoche is treasnred for its sweet smoky flavor that is like a cross between a corn and a mushroom. Cuitlacoche is available canned at some Hispanic markets or on the internet. If you cannot find Cuitlacoche you may substitute any eorthy wild mnshroom like Shitokes, Crimini, or Oyster mnshrooms.

Makes 4 Quesadillas

- 8 flour Tortillas
- 2 cups shredded Cotija or Monterey Jack Cheese
- 2 Chicken Breasts
- 2 Poblano Chiles, roasted and sliced (see note)
- 1 bunch Cilantro, chopped
- 4 cloves Garlic, minced
- ½ can Cuitlacoche, cut into small pieces
- ¼ cup olive oil

1. Marinate the chicken in the oil, ½ the cilantro, and ½ the garlic for 1 to 2 hours. Then grill and dice.

2. Heat a saute pan over medium heat and add a little vegetable oil. Add the garlic and saute lightly, making sure it does not brown. Add the chicken, poblanos, remaining cilantro, and cuitlacoche, and heat through.

3. Place 4 tortillas on a griddle over medium heat and divide the cheese among them. Cook until the cheese is melted and the tortilla is lightly browned. Divide the filling among the 4 tortillas, top with the second tortilla and flip over. Continue to cook until the second tortilla is lightly browned.

4. Remove the quesadillas from the griddle and cut in quarters and arrange on 4 warm plates. Top with corn and black bean salsa and a sprig of cilantro.

Note: To roast poblanos or any pepper for that matter, simply place the pepper over a hot grill or an open flame such as your gas burner. Cook the pepper, turning frequently, until all the skin is charred. Place the pepper in a bowl and wrap with plastic wrap and let steam for 5-10 minutes. Remove from the bowl and peel off the charred skin (do not rinse with water or you will lose that nice smoky flavor). Remove the seeds from the pepper and cut as you need.

Fluorescent Bulbs To Be Given Away

The Garden Club of Princeton will be giving away one compact fluorescent light bulb per family this Friday, May 3, from 8 to 11:30 a.m. The bulbs will be available, while supplies last, at the French Market which is located on Mercer Island in front of Town Topic.

The Conservation Committee of the Garden Club of Princeton has sought to increase public awareness and use of these energy-efficient light bulbs. Each bulb has a 10-year life expectancy and can save up to $70 in energy usage over the life of one bulb.

Flowers, plants and floral arrangements will also be for sale as well as note cards imprinted with the Mercer Oak designed by Barbara Morrison. All proceeds from the French Market are used to support various community projects.

On hand to distribute the light bulbs will be Barbara Chatham, Marjie Laughlin, Meg Michael, and Barbara Morrison.

Metropolitan Opera Secrets Will Be Revealed

Dorothea's House, 120 John Street, will sponsor a talk by Gildo DiNunzio entitled "The Unseen and the Unforseen in Opera" on Sunday, May 5 at 6 p.m.

Mr. DiNunzio spent 38 years working at the Metropolitan Opera as a coach and assistant conductor. He will talk about backstage sound effects, and some close calls that occurred in his years with the opera company.

The program is free. The public is encouraged to bring a refreshment to share in the reception after the program.

Annual Book Sale Now Has New Name

For almost three quarters of a century, the annual Book Sale has provided scholarship assistance to young women from central New Jersey. For the first 70 years, this aid went only to those attending Bryn Mawr.

This year, for the first time, it will also be available for those at Wellesley, in a sale now called the Bryn Mawr-Wellesley Book Sale.

Over 80,000 books will be on sale from Wednesday, May 15 through Sunday, May 19 at the Princeton Day School ice hockey rink. Carefully sorted into more than 60 categories, they are priced low to sell. Special bargains will be available on Saturday, May 18, Half-Price Day, and on the sale's final day, Sunday, May 19, when any carton bought can be filled for $5.

The traditional Collector's Corner, in a room off the rink, will include first editions, rare books, those signed by famous authors and books with lavish illustrations.

Alumnae from both colleges work year-long receiving, sorting and boxing books in the warehouse behind 32 Vandeventer Avenue in Princeton. Anyone can drop books off at this facility on Wednesday or Saturday mornings from 10 to noon and receive credit for a tax-deductible donation.

Some Bryn Mawr alumnae have been donating their time and expertise to the Book Sale on a regular basis for close to 50 years. These include Diana Lucas '44, Marge Claghorn '46 and Patsy Erdman '49. They recall, among other things, lending books to dress the movie sets of You've Got Mail and I.Q. (when German books and those of appropriate age were needed for Einstein's library).

Books used to be on sale all year long at the Bryn Mawr Book Shop. However, with its closing last year, books will now be available only at the annual sale.

A preview sale will take place from 10 until 2 on Wednesday, May 15. Entry is $15, with the sale of numbered tickets beginning at 9 at the rink. After the preview, entry is free. Hours are May 15, 2 to 9; May 16 and 17, 10 to 9 p.m.; May 18, Half-Price Day, 10 to 7; and May 19 ($5-per-Carton Day), 11 to 3.

Cash or checks with I.D. only will be accepted, no credit cards. To reach the Lisa McGraw Skating Rink at Princeton Day School, from Route 206 south of Princeton, take Elm Road and follow the yellow signs.

Victor Hugo Celebrated At the University

This year marks the 200th anniversary of the birth of Victor Hugo. Princeton University's Department of French and Italian, in collaboration with the Council for the Humanities and the Center for French Studies, will mark the occasion with an international colloquium on "Hugo et l'Histoire" to take place on Friday and Saturday, May 3 and 4.

Papers, some illustrated with slides, will be presented and discussed by 13 distinguished Hugo scholars from France and the United States. Most papers will be in French.

Sessions will take place in Betts Auditorium at the School of Architecture, from 10 to 12 and 2 to 5 on both days,

In addition, on Friday evening at 8 in Rockefeller College Lounge, Madison Hall, a program of music and recitations will honor the memory of Hugo.

Violinist Kathryn Lachman, accompanied by Benjamin Binder; will play Cesar Franck's Sonata for Violin and Piano; soprano Anne Hoffmann, accompanied on the piano by Rita Asch, will sing a selection of Hugo texts set to music by Liszt, Lalo, Saint-Saens, Wagner and other composers, and Florent Masse, Hélène Wullus and Matthieu Boyd will recite some of Hugo's most politically committed poems.

The public is invited, admission to all events is free.

TRENTON ROUNDUP

Dredging Delayed

Plans to deepen the Delaware River's channel to 45 feet to accommodate larger ships have been delayed because of questions raised about the $377 million project by Congressional investigators. Critics say the plan would cause irreparable environmental damage and provide little or no economic benefit.

Credit Rating Dips

A Wall Street bond agency, Fitch Ratings, has lowered New Jersey's credit rating slightly for general obligation bonds from double A-plus to double A. On other debts, the rating fell from double A to double A-minus. The firm blamed the state's budget shortfall.

No More Stinky Buses

In spite of the budget shortfall, New Jersey will spend an additional $1.6 million a year to purchase clean-burning, low-sulfur fuel for its 2,000 diesel buses starting in July.

The fuel switch will reduce tailpipe emissions of sulfur dioxide by 90 percent and soot by 25 percent. "When faced with decisions about costs or the public health, we must remain committed to protecting our residents, especially those in urban areas of the state," said James Fox, the state transportation commissioner.

E-ZPass Nightmare

After committing $300 million to create an E-ZPass electronic toll system, New Jersey is confronted with motorists who are fined for violations they never committed or billed for driving in places they never were. The state has now suspended installation of the system for a four-month review and launched legislative hearings to find out who is responsible.

Two dozen states are using electronic tolls but no other state has had as many problems as New Jersey, which was the only state to put no money down to create the systems and which relies most heavily on toll violations to finance it. Between 1999 and 2001, it cost the state $19.2 million to collect $13.3 million in fines.

Fewer Standardized Tests

An overhaul of New Jersey's school testing program includes plans to rely less on standardized tests to measure student ability and to make more use of performance-based student evaluations that involve demonstrations, competitions, and tasks to measure proficiency. Performance evaluations would be administered by local school districts but would be overseen by state officials to ensure they meet Core Curriculum Standards.

As part of the overhaul, state officials have unveiled plans for a third-grade reading, writing and mathematics test to start next spring.

"Public Nuisance No. 1"

Democratic Senate President Richard Codey, calling cable firms New Jersey's "Public Nuisance No. 1," has called for re-regulating cable television in New Jersey. Since the industry was deregulated in 1999, the price for "extended basic service" has gone up 51 percent in the state. New Jersey has 41 cable systems, operated by seven companies. Comcast is the largest operator, followed by Cablevision.

FamilyCare Insurance Cuts

Governor James McGreevey's budget proposal for the upcoming fiscal year will cut state spending for the FamilyCare health insurance program by $42.8 million, but the loss will be partially offset by an increase in federal aid. The program, which serves 170,000 low-income children and adults, may soon be forced to cut coverage for 44,000 "childless adults." About 26,000 of those adults are on welfare and typically have serious health problems.

MEMORIAL FUND INSTIGATOR: Kevin McNulty, 11, suggested that donations in honor of his late grandfather, Charles McNulty, be sent to SAVE, the Herrontown Road animal shelter. As a result, $50,000 has been given to the shelter.

McNulty Memorial Fund Donates $50,000 to SAVE

Charles McNulty, a native of Donegal, Ireland, was a lifelong lover of animals. When Mr. McNulty died in early April in Havertown, Pa., at the age of 72, his grandchildren asked that memorial donations be sent to SAVE.

Since then, each day's mail has contained a supply of checks. By April 29, $50,000 had been donated in Mr. McNulty's memory. And the checks are still coming in.

"This is a most generous, and unexpected, windfall for SAVE," said Executive Director Sara M. Nicolis.

"We are so thankful to the McNulty family for thinking of us, and will put the money to good use. Since Mr. McNulty was such a lover of animals, we're sure it would please him to know that donations made in his memory will be used for the expansion of an animal shelter that for half a century has devoted itself to saving and placing strays in the Princeton area."

Anne McNulty, Mr. McNulty's daughter-in-law, said it was her youngest son, Kevin, 11, who suggested that donations in honor of his grandfather be sent to SAVE. His sister, Brynne, 13, and brother, Johnny, 17, readily agreed, as did their father, John, a senior director at Goldman Sachs. Not long after, the donations began pouring in at SAVE, many from John and Anne's colleagues at Goldman Sachs.

Since the 1940's, when it was co-founded by Emily Myrick and Dr. Cornelia Jaynes, SAVE has been serving the animals and residents of the greater Princeton area. The non-profit animal shelter opened its Herrontown Road facility in 1971, and since then, has provided much more than food and shelter to its animals.

In addition to sheltering homeless animals, and helping them find adoptive families, SAVE spays, neuters, vaccinates, and provides necessary health care to each one.

SAVE is responding to the urgent need in the Greater Princeton area for a low-cost spay/neuter clinic. To that end, it has launched a $3 million capital campaign to fund a 15,000-square-foot onsite building project. Preliminary designs are under way.

Role of Progressives In U.S. Politics Discussed

Richard Leone, president of the Century Foundation, will present a lecture titled "Shaping the Debate: Can Progressives Get Back in the Game?" at 4:30 p.m., Thursday, May 2, in Bowl 1, Robertson Hall, Princeton University.

Mr. Leone will begin his lecture with a brief review of the political battleground over ideas since the 1960s, with a special emphasis on the role of conservative and liberal policy institutions. He will discuss these institutions by looking at key policy areas, such as Social Security and taxes.

The Century Foundation (formerly the 20th Century Fund) is a public policy research foundation dedicated to questioning the assumptions behind sweeping policy claims on issues such as economic inequality, population aging and the public's discontent with government and politics.

Mr. Leone is a Princeton graduate alumnus, having earned his master of public affairs in 1965 and his Ph.D. in 1969. He served as commissioner and then chair of the Port Authority of New York and New Jersey from 1988 to 1994.

The lecture is sponsored by the Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs.

Pennington Yoga Studio Plans to Open May 1

The Yoga Studio at Pennington will open May 1 at 114 West Franklin Avenue. Classes begin at 9:45 a.m.

Jill Gutowski and Michael Brantl are co-directors of the studio. Ms. Gutowski states, "We specialize in teaching yoga and yoga philosophy to the beginning and intermediate student. We believe that yoga is accessible to all people regardless of yoga experience and/or fitness level."

Ms. Gutowski and Mr. Brantl have studied extensively at White Lotus Foundation in Santa Barbara, Calif., and with such notable yoga instructors as Rodney Yee, David Swenson, Bryan Kest, Erich Schiffman and Bikram Choudhury.

Mr. Gutowski holds a BA in psychology from Rider College and an MA in counseling from The College of New Jersey where she is an adjunct professor of yoga and stress management. Mr. Brantl holds a BS in corporate fitness from The College of New Jersey and a BS in psychology from Shippensburg University.

The couple is married and live in Yardley, Pa.

Town's Soccer Fields Are Monopolized By the Princeton Soccer Association

To the Editor of Town Topics:

I read with great interest today's story regarding the coming shortage of soccer field space in Princeton that may affect "one thousand children" in Princeton. With all due respect to Chris Tarr and Jack Roberts, both fine gentlemen, there is a lot more to the story than that.

Point One: PSA is not the only soccer club affected by this. There are at least two other clubs, Greater Nassau and FC Magic, that request fields and facilities from the Recreation Department and the schools. Concern for these children ought to be in the mix too. All who are affected by this problem should be at the table to find solutions, not just PSA.

Point Two: For many years PSA had the monopoly on Washington Road and declined to share their fields with anyone, when others were having trouble getting space. Now, we are told, there is a big crisis because PSA can't use Washington Road any longer. Not only that, but when PSA had access to Washington Road, they still booked as much of the fields and gyms the schools and Rec. Dept. had to offer. Their modus operandi seems to be: what's ours is ours and what's yours is to be shared with us.

Point Three: One of the causes of this problem is PSA's insistence of year-round soccer, which of course increases the demand for fields without increasing supply. Not infrequently, this includes "elite players" recruited from out of town. All this flies in the face of the Rec. Dept.'s stated preference that younger children not be pigeonholed into one sport at younger ages and that athletic space be allocated accordingly.

Finally a prediction: PSA is about to embark on a major offensive to grab as much space from the schools and the Rec. Dept. as they can get their hands on. (One suspects this was at least part of the motivation for the recent unsuccessful run for the School Board by PSA's president.) The community at large should let the Rec. Department and the schools know that available space should be allocated equitably in a transparent process, not monopolized by any one group.

Friends of Princeton Open Space Thank All Who Helped With D&R Canal Cleanup

To the Editor of Town Topics:

On behalf of Friends of Princeton Open Space, I would like to thank everyone who participated and helped with our cleanup along the Delaware & Raritan Canal in Princeton on April 13. Dozens of volunteers in canoes and on foot removed trash along a four-mile stretch of the canal starting at Port Mercer. More than 50 large garbage bags of trash were collected, as well as several car tires, wheel rims, a propane tank, a rusty bike, and other items of debris.

Participants included members of the Rotary Club, the marine biology club of Princeton High School, Boy Scout Troop 88, the Tenacre Foundation, and Friends of Princeton Open Space. At the end of the event, significant stretches were left looking pristine. We will return to work again on other sections that could not be cleaned up in one day's work, and to extend our efforts further north.

Special thanks are due to a number of people and entities: to Princeton Canoe Rental, for renting canoes at half price and providing wash-up facilities; to Princeton Township traffic and public works officials, who helped with access issues and otherwise; to Princeton Theological Seminary, for help with access; to D&R Canal Park personnel; to The Nickel, Mail Boxes Etc. and the Princeton Library, for displaying our flyer; and to board members Andrew Love and Pat Palmer, without whom this would never have come about.

Everyone who devoted his or her time and effort to this project can be proud of making a contribution to the community and the Canal Park, particularly when there is so little funding available for park maintenance. Thanks again to all.

HiTOPS Is the Only Clinic in New Jersey Providing Vital Health Information to Teens

To the Editor of Town Topics:

It seems that everytime I read the newspaper or watch the news I hear about millions of dollars in government funding going to "Abstinence Only" programs. I want to share an experience with your readers that have opened my eyes to a real need. According to the MTV sex quiz, 68 percent of kids in high schools will have had sexual intercourse by the time they graduate.

I, a Rutgers University Public Health Senior, interned for four months at HiTOPS (Health Interested Teens Own Program on Sexuality) in downtown Princeton. For me, a 23-year-old African American female from Union County, it has been an exceptional experience. I learned a great deal about the organization, the staff, and the teens who come to HiTOPS.

Growing up I didn't think about sex until I actually became sexually active. When I had questions I didn't go to my parents or teachers, I relied on my friends for answers. As adults, we know that sexual health advice from other teens isn't the most accurate. It is for this reason I think HiTOPS as a source of information is such a unique program. It is a place that teens can come to if they have questions regarding their health. My friends and I never had a facility that was available to us for counseling, support groups, or reproductive healthcare services.

It wasn't just my friends and I who had nowhere to go at the time, but most teens in New Jersey. HiTOPS gives teens the opportunity to become responsible healthcare consumers. As a teen growing up, there are situations that arise, be it big or small, that ultimately have the potential to be life altering. Two of my friends got pregnant in their senior year of high school and were not able to go to college right away. Maybe back then, if we had a resource like HiTOPS some of our lives would have turned out differently.

Why is providing teens with appropriate and accurate information important? In today's society teens are more mature now, than ever before. The key to the program's success is providing teens with appropriate and accurate information that empowers these adolescents with the knowledge, to give them the skills they need to make smart and responsible decisions regarding sexual health and their relationships.

Unfortunately, HiTOPS is the only teen health clinic of its kind in New Jersey. HiTOPS is unique in that it also provides male services. It is a clinic that provides reproductive health care to teens without the need of parental consent. It is a non-profit organization aimed at promoting adolescent health and wellbeing. HiTOPS provides a public health approach through educational outreach into many New Jersey high schools, clinical services, and support groups.

More Than $115,000 Raised to Cure Cystic Fibrosis by Great Strides Walk

To the Editor of Town Topics:

A great thanks to the generous people of Princeton, Cranbury, West Windsor, Hamilton, Montgomery and Pennington, for the success of the April 21 Great Strides Walk to Cure Cystic Fibrosis at the Princeton Battlefield. The generosity of our community is demonstrated by the prayers, concern and the more than $115,000 raised by the participants. The entire amount will be used to fund research efforts to treat and cure this fatal disease.

The newspaper is not large enough to list everyone who contributed but we will try: New Jersey 101.5FM, Princeton Township Mayor Phyllis Marchand, Princeton Borough Mayor Marvin Reed, Battlefield Curator John Mills, The Distler Family, The Caricato Family, A & E Products, The Costello Family, The McQuaid Family, Merrill Lynch, Fleet Bank, Dow Jones, Futures and Options for Kids.

The public and private school students set the course, kept us warm with hot jazz, sold cookies, had dress down days and contributed time and effort: Princeton High School Girls' Lacrosse teams, Stuart Country Day School, St. Paul's School, St. Ann's School, Lawrenceville School, John Witherspoon Middle School, Stage 88 Jazz, Princeton University, Caldwell College.

The area businesses sold "sneakers," advertised the event and provided prizes: McCaffrey's Markets in Princeton and West Windsor, Burger King Restaurants in Princeton, Halo Farm, Wegman's Market.

The course was marked in yellow signs sponsored by: Air Control, Natalie Caricato-Photographer, James Irish Tree Experts, Lawrence Lexus, Coleman's Hamilton Supply, The Pediatric Group, Joanne Reiffe Fishbane DMD, Kenneth Goldblatt MD, Medical Center at Princeton, Witherspoon Bread Company, Nassau Street Seafood, Mark's Trackside Auto Repair, Donna Grainger's Hair Co., Plainsboro Senior Citizens, Omni Environmental Corporation, Crown Chimney Sweeps, A&L Pool Service, Cranbury Design Group, Braun Market Research, M.T. Caporusso Plumber. The sandwiches were donated by Richard's Market and Catering. Roses for the "65 Roses" promotion are supplied by Kale's Nursery.

The athletic teams raised money and awareness of this fatal disease: Princeton Soccer Association, Princeton Youth Baseball Teams, Princeton Cranbury Babe Ruth Baseball Teams.

We are hopeful that the awareness and money raised by this event nationwide will change the meaning of the initials CF from Cystic Fibrosis to Cure Found. When this occurs you will all be invited to a celebration sponsored by our family and all the families of children with CF in Mercer County to celebrate with us as you have worked with us.

Situation Now Critical for Programs Supported by United Way Campaign

To the Editor of Town Topics:

When we celebrated our 2001-2002 campaign kick-off on September 10, we had no idea that this would be one of the most difficult years we would ever have to face.

As you may know, we're in the midst of a very critical situation. Because of the $500,000 campaign shortfall, UWGMC's Board of Trustees has been forced to make difficult decisions. The Board has voted to utilize monies from the Reserve Fund to keep current grants whole until the end of June. Some program funding has already been reduced.

These decisions were not made lightly. We needed to act in the best interest of the community as a whole and make certain that United Way continues to be here in order to help support our community's most vulnerable populations. We must prevent further erosion of our community's safety-net.

That's why we're rallying the support of the community to help prevent further reductions.

To those of you who have responded so generously with your gifts of support, we would like to say "Thank you!" We can't even begin to express our appreciation for your investment in our community.

To those of you who have not yet made a contribution, we still need your help. Please consider partnering with us to provide support to those in our community who struggle every day to raise healthy children, meet basic needs and build self-sufficiency. Thank you.

Riverside Teacher Fired by School Board

The Princeton Regional School Board has fired a Riverside School Elementary teacher accused of using a hidden camera to secretly videotape female staff members at the school.

During an emergency meeting held Monday night, the board voted unanimously to dismiss 32-year-old first-year Spanish teacher Henry Vanegas. He was scheduled to appear in Princeton Township municipal court on April 30.

Vanegas was arrested on April 18 and charged with maintaining a nuisance. That includes photographing or preparing obscene material. The Sayreville resident could face up to one year in jail and a maximum fine of $10,000.

Vanegas was identified by police as the suspect after he was seen on the videotape. The camera was hidden beneath a tablecloth in a staff bathroom used mostly by female employees.

EAGLE AND FRIENDS: Cecil Martin, a running back with the Philadelphia Eagles, met with students in kindergarten through fifth grade on Tuesday at the Clay Street Learning Center. As part of the Princeton Young Achievers program and through Eagles Youth Partnership, Mr. Martin spoke with the kids about discipline, the importance of staying in school, and the role of reading in a successful life, and he then handed out books signed by Eagles' players.

Medical Center to Re-Submit Application to Zoning Board

In a meeting last Wednesday, the Princeton Township Zoning Board of Adjustment stated that it will retain jurisdiction over the Medical Center at Princeton's use of five residential properties along Harris Road and that the hospital should again submit materials to request zoning variances.

Barry Rabner, the new president of the Medical Center, and his staff will have until October to make that application.

The houses on Harris Road in question are being used by the hospital for a variety of operations including accounting, planning, fund-raising, public relations, and purchasing.

At issue in this long dispute is whether the professional use of buildings in a residential zone is "inherently beneficial" to the community, which would make the buildings exempt from certain local zoning restrictions.

Recently, an Appellate Court ruling handed down by a three-judge panel headed by Judge Philip Carchman stated that the hospital must demonstrate how the Harris Road offices advance the core function of the institution.

According to Christopher Tarr, zoning attorney for the Medical Center, that ruling provides for professional use of the buildings as long as the use in question is reasonably related to the operations of the hospital.

He also indicated that Mr. Rabner will take the appropriate amount of time to develop a suitable strategy. "It's entirely up to Mr. Rabner and his staff," said Mr. Tarr. "He's a new guy who may have new thoughts and a new direction in this."

Carol Norris, the director of public relations at the Medical Center, said, "The Medical Center's use of space and our role in the community are both very important to us." Citing Mr. Rabner's recent appointment, she added, "It would be premature to comment further on the zoning situation at this time."

Following the appellate court's recent decision, we have a different set of criteria to evaluate the application," said Carlos Rodrigues, the chair of the Zoning Board. "The Medical Center could come to us with the same application and we would look at it somewhat differently, or they could come to us with a different application."

Robert Casey, the attorney for the Township's Zoning Board, said "The question of beneficial use has been the theme throughout this process.

"The hospital has claimed that its back office use of these spaces is inherently beneficial to its operations," he stated. "If they establish that it is, then they would be entitled to a special status under zoning law."

Mr. Tarr stated that in 1994 an initial application for use variance regarding five structures along Harris Road was made by the hospital to the Zoning Board. The board denied that application, but the hospital appealed its decision to the Superior Court of New Jersey.

In June 1999, Judge Linda Feinberg ruled that the hospital's use of the houses was indeed inherently beneficial to the community, thereby effectively reversing the Zoning Board's ruling and remanding the application to the board for further consideration.

Although the Zoning Board appealed that decision, the appellate panel recently upheld Judge Feinberg's ruling, remanding the issue to the board for further review once again.

Mr. Tarr indicated that the hospital had hoped to find legislative solutions to the issue by appealing for changes in the zoning ordinances. Such revisions would have come in the form of changes to Princeton's Master Plan, thereby permitting the hospital to seek re-zoning through the Princeton Township Committee.

At a March meeting before the Master Plan Subcommittee of the Princeton Regional Planning Board, Dennis Doody, the former president of the Medical Center, stated that the hospital would need 100,000 square feet of space to expand its core services and indicated that Harris Road was the only suitable place for such expansion.

Institute Woods Walk Scheduled for May 4

A Bird Walk through the Institute Woods and the Charles H. Rogers Wildlife Refuge, the first program of the Friends of Princeton Open Space Spring Walk series, will be led by Thomas Poole Saturday morning, May 4, at 7 a.m.

The Institute lands, of which the Woods are the best known part, was the focus of a major effort by the state and the local community to insure permanent preservation of all of the property. The walk has been scheduled to coincide with the peak of the spring migration of warblers, during which the Woods and the adjoining Refuge are especially good for bird watching. More than 180 species have been spotted in the Institute Woods/Refuge area.

A longtime birder and a longtime resident of Princeton, Thomas Poole is a frequent visitor to the Institute Woods and the adjoining Rogers Wildlife Refuge; he knows both areas well. Mr. Poole is a member of the Board of Trustees of the D&R Greenway as well as that of Friends of Princeton Open Space. He was active in the effort to preserve the Institute lands.

The walk begins at 7 a.m., Places are limited. Call 921-2772 to reserve a place and obtain directions and location for parking. Bring binoculars if possible. Many areas are wet, so boots or waterproof shoes are suggested. The program is free.

Full Range of Italian Cuisine At La Principessa Ristorante

Its name may have changed, but the delicious food, accommodating owners, and friendly atmosphere are the same!

La Principessa Ristorante, formerly La Borgata, located in the Kingston Mall on Route 27, is owned by brothers John and Tino Procaccini.

When they changed the name last year due to a conflict with another company having the same name, they wanted their new signature to have special meaning, explains John Procaccini.

IT'S NEW To Us

"We tried to think of a name that would tie in with La Borgata, which means 'little village' in Italian. In Pettoranello, Italy (Princeton Township's sister city), my grandparents had a farm and olive orchard, which we now own, in a little village, La Borgata.

"In the 1700s, one of the first owners was a prince. He had a sister, and she loved the place so much, she built a house there. So we decided to name the restaurant after her, La Principessa — the Princess."

In addition to the name change, the restaurant and the more informal pizzeria and cafe are now in separate locations, just a few doors apart.

Great Business

"We opened the cafe Christmas Eve, 2000," says John, "and it's doing great business. It offers pizza, salad, wraps, pastries, gelato, cappuccino, espresso, and gift baskets. It's sit down and take-out, and we have free delivery. We also sell our special virgin olive oil (from the Italian orchard), our homemade sauces, pasta, and mozzarella there."

In fact, the brothers report happily, business has been great from the time they opened La Borgata in 1999.

"It's beyond what we expected. The success is because of the quality of the food, but also because we are here — Tino and John. It's the personal touch. We are here every day. It's very hands-on. Being here is so important."

And although they love it, being there most of the day and night is not so easy for the hard-working brothers. John, an entrepreneur, also works as manager of Industrial Operations at the Sarnoff Corporation, and Tino is busy at college, just about to complete his degree in business at Rider University.

The Princeton natives say their dedication to the work ethic was instilled in them by their parents, who came to the U.S. from Italy more than 30 years ago.

"Our parents worked three or four jobs seven days a week," points out John. "As boys, we helped out in our father's landscaping company. Now, I'm here at the restaurant every evening and on weekends, and Tino is the cook par excellence! He does everything behind the scenes, and I'm out front."

Tino, who was formerly in the restaurant business in Hillsborough, has always enjoyed cooking. "I watched my Mom," he recalls, "and we use special recipes from the family, including my mother's meat balls and sauce. We make everything from scratch with all the freshest ingredients, and you can really taste the difference.

"The cuisine is southern Italy," he continues, "but the specials are multi-regional. Every week we have six new specials, and always a fish of the day. Some customers come in three and four times a week and always want the old favorites — lasagne or chicken parmigiana. On Friday and Saturday, with friends, they'll order from the specials, but on the week days, they stick to the old favorites."

OH, BROTHER!: "It was always our dream to have our own restaurant. We wanted to do something we could call our own baby, our own business." Brothers John (left) and Tino Procaccini, owners of La Principessa Ristorante (formerly La Borgata), stand in front of the restaurant's wine selection.

Special Requests

"We cook everything to order," adds John. "We make our own mozzarella, sauces, pasta, and bread. Tino is so innovative. He is always creating new recipes and dishes. I think this is a big part of our success, and we also accommodate people with special dietary needs."

Indeed, special requests are common place at La Principessa.

"When someone sets foot in here, the sky is the limit," says John. "We will do anything for our customers."

And there is always something delicious to pamper the palate, and in very generous portions.

Favorites include stuffed chicken breasts with spinach, prosciutto, and gorgonzola cheese in a cognac cream sauce with roasted peppers over pasta; Ravioli Ripieno, homemade stuffed ravioli (with lobster, spinach or cheese) in a creamy pink vodka sauce; Vitello Saltin Bocca, scallopini of top-round veal, sauteed in a cognac demi-glaze sauce with prosciutto di parma and baby spinach; and Cappelini Frutti di Mare — calamari, sauteed scallops, and clams in a pomodoro sauce.

"We also do a beautiful escargot with crumpled sausage, homemade gnocchi, and basil pasta. People love that," adds John.

Garlic Knots

All entrees are served with an organic spring mix salad, homemade pasta, and fresh baked bread — including the garlic knots (smaller versions of garlic bread) which are irresistible with the special dipping sauce.

Among antipasti, Eggplant Rollatini, with sauteed eggplant rolled with ricotta cheese and mozzarella in tomato sauce, is a big favorite.

Prices at the restaurant include a typical entree at $13.95, with specials $16.95 and up. Pizzas are $8 and $9 for medium and large.

Early bird customers (from 5 to 6 p.m.) receive a 20 percent discount at the restaurant Tuesday through Friday. The early bird special at the cafe is free toppings on pizza.

Catering and private parties are also a growing part of La Principessa's business. "We have lots of family parties, and we've done bridal showers every month," notes John. "We do weddings, christenings, bar mitzvahs, graduations, and we also want to expand our corporate clientele."

Pleasing the customers is what it's all about, he adds, and even on days when things don't go quite right, spending time with the customers can turn it around.

"Seeing the people, the customers and the staff — we still have 95 percent of the staff that started here. It's family! — this makes all the difference. We love having families here, too. They feel so at home here. They know they can relax, and we provide a baby chair."

Gift certificates are available, and hours are Tuesday through Friday 11:30 to 10, Saturday 1 to 10, Sunday 4:30 to 9. The restaurant, which now has a liquor license, is open only for dinner (from 5) and private lunch parties. Reservations are strongly recommended. Call 921-3043.

Children 18 Months to 6 Years Attend New Horizons Montessori School

Allowing each child to learn at his or her own pace in a non-competitive environment is the focus of New Horizons Montessori.

Opened last October, the private non-sectarian pre-school, located in Montgomery Professional Center on Vreeland Drive, off Route 518 West in Montgomery Township, has an enrollment of 75 students, ages 18 months to six years. It focuses on the Montessori system of education, established by Maria Montessori (1870-1952).

"She was an Italian educator and child psychologist and the first woman physician to graduate from the University of Rome's School of Medicine," explains New Horizons' executive director Hassan Syed. "Working with children, she came to the conclusion that the first six years were the most formative, and the child must be given choices to learn for himself.

"The Montessori system is worldwide, and a lot of her philosophy has been adopted in the public schools in the U.S."

Mr. Syed, originally from Pakistan, studied at the London School of Economics before coming to the U.S. He met his wife Shaheen Syed, an educator, in England. She is the academic director of New Horizons Montessori in Montgomery and at its other location in West Windsor.

"I had worked in the financial field in New York, and I felt it was time for a change," says Mr. Syed, referring to his new role. "And I was always helping behind the scenes at West Windsor."

Quality Care

"I really enjoy seeing the children here," he adds. "I enjoy coming to work every day. This is child-care, but more. It's the quality of the care, the quality of the materials we use, and the academic opportunity. The emphasis is to make the children more confident and help them make decisions for themselves."

The New Horizons facility includes five classrooms for the three to six year-olds, and one classroom for the 18 months- to three-year-olds. There is a multi-purpose room for use as a gym, class parties, and other group meetings. In the back, a fenced playground features swing and climbing equipment for both age groups.

The school, which is an affiliate member of the American Montessori Society, has 10 teachers in charge of the pre-primary class (18 months- to three year-olds) and the older primary and kindergarten class.

Classes are held in what Dr. Montessori called the "prepared environment." The Montessori classroom provides order and structure through a safe and enriching environment, which allows children to learn at their own speed, according to their own capabilities, in a way they enjoy, under the guidance of the teachers, explains Mr. Syed.

Love of Learning

The head teachers, certified in the Montessori system, are trained to help direct each child in activities he or she has chosen on an individual basis. This way the teacher can address the specific needs of a child and respond to that individual child's level of interest and understanding.

"Children become self-directed learners," he adds. "The dual qualities of independence and a love of learning, natural tendencies for the children, are nurtured in such a way that both competence and confidence result."

Special hands-on Montessori materials are used for learning, notes Mr. Syed. "Typical Montessori materials are tangible — the focus is more on the concrete than the abstract. For example, concepts in math are emphasized by actually counting and holding the items. It's understanding an abstract concept through the manipulation of concrete materials.

"Montessori does not focus on toys," he continues. "The experience here is not just to play and run around. One of the big differences with Montessori is there's not a lot of noise. Children are quietly engaged in purposeful activities, including 'practical life' exercises — things they see at home and can relate to, such as pouring water, mixing ingredients, squeezing oranges, etc. These can help in coordination and control of movement and concentration.

"Also, everything they do is a type of work. It's a way to make work pleasurable, and they take pride in it. It helps build self-confidence and self-esteem."

Children often start their day by sitting in a circle, adds teacher Madelyn Smith. "They'll settle down, and we'll talk about different projects and share news. We'll work on the calendar, noting the day of the week, or talk about the weather. They might also show their work, and then they are free to move around and choose their individual project."

Child's Level

Everything — shelves, materials, etc. — is at the child's level, and they can move from place to place, getting something, and then returning it when they have finished using it.

A gym teacher comes once a week, as does a music teacher, who brings instruments and sings. On Wednesday, the primary classes learn French, notes Mr. Syed.

One of the advantages of having multi-age levels in one group, he adds, is that "they do different things according to interest and ability, and the younger children can learn from the others who are more experienced."

New Horizons offers flexible schedules, including a half-day, 8:30 to 11:30 a.m. or 12:30 to 3:30 p.m.; full day, 8:30 to 3:30, and extended day, 7:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. September through June. Snacks are provided, and a nap room is available for the toddlers.

Most children come five days a week, but some opt for three. There is also a summer camp in July and August.

"The fee is an annual amount," explains Mr. Syed, "but for ease of payment, we offer monthly or quarterly arrangements. There is a discount when people pay quarterly.

"We look forward to seeing our school grow and add to the cultural activities of the area," he continues. "Parents who know the value of Montessori want their children to have this stimulation and focus on learning."

For more information on New Horizons Montessori, call 252-9696. —Jean Stratton

LEARNING AT LUNCH: "Montessori is set apart by the way we focus on the individual child. There is a lot of interaction and one-on-one with the teachers," says Hassan Syed, executive director of New Horizons Montessori. Cecile Johnson (left), Kathryn Chesebrough, and Miranda Ford of the primary class are enjoying lunch. In the background is Shirin Sultana, a teacher.

Vietnam War Experience Chronicled at Exhibit

The Montgomery Center for the Arts will open an exhibit featuring the photographs and writing of Stephen Warner, entitled "Stephen Warner 1946-1971: Words and Pictures from the Vietnam War," on Friday, May 3.

The show, which will run through Friday, May 31, will host an opening reception on Sunday, May 5 from 1 to 4 in the main gallery.

Mr. Warner, a former Princeton and Montgomery resident, went to Vietnam with a camera and a pen. Working for the public relations staff of Army Headquarters, he wrote for Stars and Stripes and other military newspapers and captured the human element of the soldiers' experience in both pictures and words for hometown newspapers.

His unique collection of photographs and writings, which includes a diary of personal impressions, pays homage and tribute to those soldiers.

Mr. Warner was killed in an ambush near the Laotian border on February 14, 1971. He is the only Montgomery resident to have died in the Vietnam War.

Growing up in Montgomery Township, Mr. Warner later attended Princeton High School. After majoring in history at Gettysburg College and completing his first year of law school at Yale, he was drafted in June of 1969.

Mr. Warner's photographs — ranging from camouflaged soldiers wading in muddy rivers to a group of soldiers with heads bowed during a prayer service to a baby being carried by her Vietnamese mother — reveal his empathy for those affected by the conflict.

Reflecting on Mr. Warner's life and work, Nancy Tetz, a family friend, said, "Perhaps he did not die in vain if he helps others understand an important time in our history. Although he hated war, he respected and loved his fellow soldiers."

The exhibit, which is a collaborative effort from staff, faculty, and students at Gettysburg College and is on loan from that institution, has received regional and national recognition, including a six-month run at the Smithsonian Institute's Museum of American History.

The show is free and open to the public. The Montgomery Center for the Arts is located at 124 Montgomery Road in Skillman. For more information, call 921-3272.

"MATISSE'S EGG: BROKEN": The image of a broken eggshell will be a theme in a series of watercolor paintings by Elizabeth Lombardi that will be exhibited at the Present Day Club from May 1 through June 20.

Joint Arts Exhibition To Feature Stuart Teachers

Deborah Land and Madelaine Shellaby, teachers in the art department at Stuart Country Day School of the Sacred Heart, will be featured in a two-person art exhibit, entitled "Elemental/Ornamental."

The show, which will be held at the Arts Council of Princeton at the corner of Witherspoon Street and Paul Robeson Place, will take place from Friday, May 3 through Friday, May 24. An opening reception will be held on Friday, May 3 from 6 to 8. On Sunday, May 5 at 3:30, in conjunction with an Open House at the Arts Council to celebrate Cinco de Mayo, the artists will give a talk about their work.

Ms. Land will be exhibiting examples of her photographic work in the gallery. Winner of Best in Show in February at the Grounds for Sculpture Annual Photography Show, she said, "In these recent photographs, I focus on nature in an intimate way by blowing up images out of the usual proportions and by applying exaggerated toning effects to enhance certain visual elements."

Ms. Shellaby will be displaying giclee prints in the exhibition. She works with still life, bringing plant material in from outside and setting it in arbitrary juxtaposition to material from her home. The recipient of three Artist Fellowships from the New Jersey Council on the Arts, Ms. Shellaby said, "It is a pleasure of still life to place together objects in unlikely alliance, making context an essential part of the construction of meaning."

Gallery hours are Monday through Friday, from 9 to 5, and weekends by appointment.

Pringle Gallery To Exhibit Show "Humanly Possible"

Paintings by three contemporary artists — Gabriel Schmitz, David FeBland, and Dan Hughes — will be on display at the Pringle Gallery, located at 30 Nassau Street in Princeton, through May 18. The show, which is entitled "Humanly Possible," will focus upon the depiction of the human form.

In his portraits, Gabriel Schmitz depicts women who are strong, self-contained, and have "a vulnerability rooted in perceptiveness, not in weakness." Many of his subjects are dancers or singers with elongated limbs where the viewer is left to mentally complete the image. Schmitz, who was born in Germany and who lives in Barcelona, said, "My interest lies in the contrasts, movement versus stillness and the condensation of a narrative or movement."

Urban Images

David FeBland is an artist that is chiefly known for his highly colored images of urban life, in particular, life in New York City. His paintings are often illustrations of the clash of cultures that exist in a condensed public space. Mr. FeBland's figures are rarely portraits, but rather people that represent a culture, occupation, or character that comprise life in the city.

A new artist at the Pringle Gallery, Dan Hughes has built a solid reputation in his native country of Canada and exhibits his work extensively there. Employing classical style, Mr. Hughes paints contemporary subjects. The result is often intimate, with strong psychological components to the portraits.

The Pringle Gallery is open Monday through Saturday, from 10 to 5. For more information, contact Debbie Pringle at 921-9292 or visit www.pringlegallery.com

Photography Club Show To Open at Capital Health

The Princeton Photography Club will open a new exhibit at the Mercer Campus of Capital Health System on Monday, May 6. The exhibit, which will be on view in the main lobby through June 14, is free and open to the public.

The club, which has exhibited for the last three years at Mercer Campus, will showcase a wide range of color and black and white photographic styles, including nature photography, double exposure, still life, landscape photography, and portraits.

Founded in 1983, the Princeton Photography Club is a group of local professional and amateur photographers interested in art education and growth. Current club members range in age from 14 years old and up. The club, which is a member of the Montgomery Center for the Arts, provides an environment where members meet to exchange ideas and information and to share photographic philosophies.

Individual club members have exhibited locally in the Annual Mercer County Photo Exhibition, at Phillips Mill, and at Perkins Art Center. Their works appear in numerous private collections and have won a variety of awards.

For more information, contact Edward Gleenblat, president of Princeton Photography Club, at 497-9288 or Jay Goodkind, the show organizer, at (215) 862-2016.

"CHILD'S FALLS": This photography of a waterfall in the Delaware Water Gap by George Vogel will be displayed among other works at a one-man show at Photography by Sherry Rubel in Kingston beginning May 3.

Kingston Will Be Site Of First Photofest

Photography by Sherry Rubel, located at 4454 Route 27 in Kingston, is hosting its first "Photofest" on Saturday and Sunday, May 4 and 5 from 10 to 3. A variety of photographic techniques and topics will be available for sale both inside and outside the studio.

All participants are established, central New Jersey artists. The exhibit will include Princeton-based George Vogel's scenes of nature; Marc Stempel's wide-angle scenic images and macro close-ups of nature; work by Ukrainian-born Igor Svibilsky and Olga Sergyeyeva, who will be showing digital photographs and street photography, respectively; portraits by East Brunswick's Harry Cohen; and Harry Rubel of Plainsboro, who will highlight his Delaware and Raritan Canal photos.

Ms. Rubel believes that "Photofest" will become an annual event that will feature photographic work from throughout the state. For more information, contact Photography by Sherry Rubel at 924-6055.

Princeton Artist's Work On View in Montgomery

Watercolors, pastels, and mixed media works by Hetty Baiz will be on display at the Montgomery Center for the Arts from Sunday, May 5 through Friday, May 31.

An opening reception is scheduled for Sunday, May 5 from 1 to 4. On both Sunday, May 12 and Sunday, May 19, from 1 to 4, patrons will have an opportunity to meet the artist.

Ms. Baiz's work, which ranges from pastel still lifes to abstract collages, displays tapestries of color, energy, and direct expression.

The artist began painting as a child, studying under her mother, Elizabeth Baiz, who was herself a painter and a student of Hans Hoffman, the painter known as the father of abstract expressionism. Ms. Baiz later studied at both Cornell University and Columbia University. Her work has been featured at numerous exhibits and juried shows.

The Montgomery Center for the Arts is located at 124 Montgomery Road in Skillman. For more information, call 921-3272.

British Lecturer to Talk On Art at Waldorf School

The Anthroposophical Group of Princeton will sponsor a presentation on British painter William Turner on Friday, May 3 at 7:30 at the Waldorf School of Princeton.

The lecture and slide show presentation, entitled "Turner in His Time: A Light for Our Time," will be given by guest speaker David Lowe from England, who has a unique educational background in philosophy and biodynamic agriculture.

Mr. Lowe will present a short biography of Turner and show how the artist's relationship to the elemental world is revealed in his work.

A donation of $5 will be taken at the door. The event will take place at the school's main campus, located at 1062 Cherry Hill Road.

For further information, call 466-1970, ext. 26.

Alumni Collections Seen in 'Collector's Eye III'

An exhibit featuring works from the collections of Lawrenceville School alumni, entitled "Collector's Eye III," was scheduled to open on Wednesday, May 1 and will run through Saturday, June 1. An opening reception will be held on Friday, May 3 from 6:30 to 8.

Seventy works of art are on view, and the exhibition will display a diverse selection of media including painting, photography, and sculpture.

Highlights include an untitled 1938 mobile by Alexander Calder, Surprised Pintails by Grainger McKoy, paintings by Reginald Marsh, Walt Kuhn, Willard Metcalf, Richard Estes, Hans Hoffman and Norman Rockwell, as well as many examples of 20th century photography.

A series of spotlight talks will be held in conjunction with the exhibition. Students from the Advanced Placement Art History course will speak on some of the works of art on display.

The exhibition will be held in the Hutchins Rotunda and the Marguerite and James Hutchins Gallery in the Gruss Center of Visual Arts at the Lawrenceville School. For more information, call 620-6026.

WATERCOLORS WITH LOCAL FLAVOR: Entitled "Mainstay Inn," this watercolor will be among the works by Sandra Nusblatt to be featured at an exhibit in the Hopewell Frame Shop from May 3 through June 28.

Hopewell Frame to Show Watercolors of Local Sites

Sandra Nusblatt, whose paintings are held in private collections worldwide, will hold a showing of her watercolors at the Hopewell Frame Shop's Gallery from Friday, May 3 through Friday, June 28. The locally-oriented show, entitled "From Hopewell to the Jersey Shore," will host an opening reception on May 3 from 6 to 8.

"This is Sandra's second one-woman show at the Frame Shop's Gallery," said Abby Frantz, owner and founder of the Hopewell Frame Shop. "I'm confident that Sandra's unique artistry in capturing the play of light on her subjects, combined with the local flavor of this show, which includes familiar scenes from right here in Hopewell, will continue to be a source of enjoyment for the gallery's many friends and customers."

Ms. Nusblatt, who attended Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts in Philadelphia, exhibited her watercolors at the Hopewell Museum in December 2001. "I've tried other mediums," she said, "but I find that working with watercolors provides me with the greatest fulfillment. I just love the experimental nature of it."

The Hopewell Frame Shop, located at 24 West Broad Street in Hopewell, holds art shows and exhibitions throughout the year. Regular hours are Tuesday through Friday, from 10 to 5, and Saturday, from 9 to 3. For more information, call Ms. Frantz at 466-0817.

Gallery 14 Will Unveil Joint Photo Exhibition

Gallery 14, located at 14 Mercer Street in Hopewell, will open a joint exhibition on Friday, May 3 that will feature the photography of both Marilyn Anderson and Jay Goodkind.

Ms. Anderson's exhibit, entitled "Window Works," will display her black and white photography. Her artistic interests concern the interplay of light and shadow, as well as form and shape.

In her work, subjects often found in store windows mingle with reflections from the outside. This show will feature an assemblage of photographs taken in London, Dublin, Rome, Prague, Paris, and New York City.

Dr. Goodkind, a retired internist and cardiologist, will exhibit his photographic work in a show entitled "The Snow Is Snowing: 30 Plus Years of Imaging Snow."

His work, which deals predominantly with landscapes and still life studies, has been featured in juried, group, and solo shows, and it has earned him numerous awards. Dr. Goodkind's most recent work reveals the creation of montages from a single image, printed and mounted in a way that produces geometric patterns.

The exhibition will run through Sunday, May 26. Gallery hours are Saturdays, from 11 to 5, and Sundays, from 1 to 5.

"CRACOW SHOWCASE": This image of a storefront window by Marilyn Anderson will be among the photographs featured at a joint exhibit at Gallery 14 from May 3 through May 26.

HEROES AMONG US: Princeton Gallery, located in Phil Kramer Photographers, will open its photographic exhibition, "Heroes Among Us," with a reception on Friday, May 3 in order to honor local individuals and organizations for their service in the community and to raise funds for local charities.

Princeton Gallery to Honor Local Heroes in Exhibit

Beginning Friday, May 3, the Princeton Gallery, located at Phil Kramer Photographers, will host a photographic exhibition, entitled "Heroes Among Us," in order to honor local individuals and organizations for their service in the community and to raise funds for local charities.

On that evening, from 5 to 8, the Princeton Gallery will open its show with a reception. Admission to the exhibit, which will run though June 1, is $15. According to the choice of the patrons, all proceeds will be donated to one of the charities honored in the exhibition.

Since the events of September 11, Phil Kramer and his staff have felt the need to recognize those individuals who, in their opinion, are often overlooked. As a result, Mr. Kramer has spent the last five months traveling throughout the Princeton community, photographing people who give of themselves through humanitarian efforts, philanthropic actions, or selfless public service to ensure a safer, healthier, and better community.

The exhibit will feature a unique photograph of an individual or organization, accompanied by a short informational profile so that patrons may learn more about their services.

Among the individuals and groups to be honored through the exhibition are Princeton Borough Mayor Marvin Reed; Princeton Township Mayor Phyllis Marchand; Princeton Borough Police Chief Charles Davall; Princeton Township Police Chief Anthony Gaylord; Walter Nolan, the pastor of St. Paul Church; Princeton First Aid and Rescue Squad; Princeton Fire Department Station 63; Bonnie Parker, the executive director of HiTops; Laurie Langbein, the executive director of Interfaith Hospitality Network of Mercer County; Corner House; Senator Shirley Turner; and Janis Blayne Paul of Big Brothers, Big Sisters of Mercer County.

Phil Kramer, an award-winning photographer who operates a wedding photography studio in Philadelphia, opened Princeton Gallery two years ago. Located in Phil Kramer Photographers at 72 Witherspoon Street, the gallery will be open Tuesday through Thursday, from 10 to 6, Friday, from 10 to 7, and Saturday, from 11 to 5. For more information, call 497-1600.

MUSIC REVIEW

University Orchestra Shows Off Graduating Talent With Challenging Pieces at Season-Ending Concert

Princeton University Orchestra's closing concert of the 2001-2002 season this past weekend focused on Mozart, a 19th-century work based on Mozart and a 20th-century piece that was as scandalous in its time as Mozart was prodigal. For this annual concert to honor former Orchestra percussionist Stuart B. Mindlin, Orchestra conductor Michael Pratt selected three pieces that both challenged the Orchestra and showed off some of the graduating talent.

Mozart's Ch'io mi scordi di te? is a little known work written in the last five years of Mozart's life. Intended as an insert for Idomeneo, this accompanied aria was composed to feature a mezzo-soprano soloist with piano soloist as obbligato accompaniment. Saturday night's performance (the concert was also presented Friday night) in Richardson Auditorium featured mezzo-soprano soloist Jennifer Borghi and pianist Kueh Hao Yuan, both graduating seniors from Princeton.

Poise and Vocal Maturity

Ms. Borghi performed with a voice and poise way beyond her years, and a vocal maturity one would not expect from a senior in college. Mr. Yuan played the accompanying piano obbligato cleanly and effectively as a second solo instrument; his playing added flourish to the vocal line and complemented Ms. Borghi's singing. Mr. Pratt's well-balanced strings, joined by the winds at the bridge between the recitative and aria, provided a delicate orchestral backdrop to the two soloists.

When composing his Serenade for String Orchestra, Op. 48, Peter Ilyich Tchaikovsky claimed that the first movement "Pezzo in forma di Sonatina" was a direct imitation of Mozart. The four-movement Serenade is linked to Mozart in intent, but with 19th-century lushness. Mr. Pratt asked for a rich and dramatic sound from the Orchestra, which played fully, but without being overbearing. The second movement "Waltz" showed off the clear sound of the cellos playing high in their registers, with a delicate close to the movement. This work was good to the cello section, and throughout the piece, all instruments played well together with clean sectional playing. Mr. Pratt effectively found the dynamic contrasts in the piece, such as in the fourth movement "Finale," which was nonstop playing for all instruments.

Mr. Pratt closed the concert with a work of extreme complexity: Igor Stravinsky's Rite of Spring. Premiered in 1913, this piece caused near riots in Paris because of its pagan character and unorthodox syncopations, all derived from Stravinsky's alleged dream of "a scene of pagan ritual in which a chosen sacrificial virgin danced herself to death." In Saturday night's performance, there was little room on the stage for anything by the time the Orchestra took its place. With eight horns and an army of winds and other brass instruments, Mr. Pratt was clearly ready to launch a full assault on this very complicated and difficult piece.

Delicate Solos

Stravinsky's work may be pagan, but within the orchestra fabric lie many delicate solos, beginning with Seth Baer's plaintive bassoon solo, which recurs periodically throughout the piece. Other exceptional instrumental solos on Saturday night included English hornist Andrew Braid, hornist Geoff Chang, and alto flutist Meredith Moroney. The entire percussion section: Jamie Chan, Ryan Anderson, Bradley Morgan, James Jeanne and Lydia Holt, played with incredible concentration and accuracy to keep the rhythmic flow of this piece going. The eight-member horn section also deserves commendation for their precise playing.

With all this rhythmic pulsation and pagan drive, it would be easy for this piece to get away from the conductor, but Mr. Pratt kept an even pace throughout. The Orchestra moved well through the various musical scenes of the two movements, and Mr. Pratt provided room for each instrumental soloist to be heard. Fortunately, audience appreciation has changed over the past century, and the response of Saturday night's audience was far different than the howling and hissing Stravinsky heard on the night of the premiere.

Over the past 13 or so years, Michael Pratt has used the Stuart B. Mindlin concerts as a chance to not only pay tribute to Mr. Mindlin's memory and family, but also to challenge the Princeton University Orchestra to reach beyond itself to tackle a seriously difficult piece of music. The Orchestra has never disappointed its audience in this endeavor, with the byproduct of leaving the graduating students of the Orchestra with the satisfaction of accomplishing a particularly difficult musical task.

TROUPE TO PERFORM: Ballet Folklórico de Princeton will perform Mexican dance at the Arts Council's May 5 open house.

Open House Features Performances, Activities At the Arts Council

The Arts Council of Princeton invites the community to join it at its first annual Open House on Sunday, May 5, from 1 to 5, for an afternoon of free performances and activities, featuring Princeton University's Ballet Folklórico and a Cinco de Mayo (Fifth of May) festival.

The staff and faculty of the Arts Council welcome the community to sample the range of visual, performing, and literary arts that the organization offers throughout the year. Kicking off the afternoon will be performances by the Spanish Dance classes taught by Arts Council teacher Lisa Bottalico. Audience members can participate in the demonstrations that follow.

Throughout the day, adults and children will be encouraged to explore the different studios and galleries in the building, and to try their hand at producing artwork. Faculty members and volunteers will be on hand to demonstrate various techniques used to create pottery and watercolors.

Art teacher Libby Ramage will guide children in making jorongos (Mexican vests) in keeping with the Cinco de Mayo theme.

In the gallery at 2:30, Deborah Almeida Land and Madelaine Shellaby will talk about the current gallery show, an exhibit of their worlds in mixed media/photography.

Storytelling and poetry readings will take place throughout the day, and young and old alike are invited to create their portraits in clay for a new mosaic that will be installed on the Arts Council building.

The centerpiece of the Open House is the two-hour presentation by Ballet Folklórico de Princeton, a dance troupe composed of Princeton University students who are dedicated to developing ties with the Princeton area Latino community and increasing cultural awareness by sharing traditional Mexican dance, music, and food.

The group will perform traditional folk dances throughout the afternoon and will elaborate — through music, food, and discussion — on the historical and cultural setting of Cinco de Mayo.

This is the second annual Cinco de Mayo festival the group has presented. The program, which begins at 2:30 with dances from the State of Veracrúz, continues at 3 with music, food, and an oral presentation on the history of Cinco de Mayo and ends at 4 with dances from the State of Jalisco. The entire community is invited to join in this free festivel, and there will be plenty of opportunity for audience members to participate in the dances themselves.

The Open House and Cinco de Mayo festival will take place at the Arts Council, Paul Robeson Building, 102 Witherspoon Street.

Antonio Hart to Perform With Jazz Ensembles

Alto and soprano saxophonist Antonio Hart will be featured as guest soloist with the Princeton University Concert Jazz Ensemble, Jazz Ensemble II and Wayne Shorter Ensemble directed by Anthony D.J. Branker on Saturday, May 11.

The concert will begin at 8 in Richardson Auditorium in Alexander Hall, located on the University campus.

Tickets are $20 ($10 for students with Princeton University I.D.; $5 Children under 12) and may be purchased at the Box Office in Alexander Hall, 258-5000.

Antonio Hart gained international attention as a member of trumpeter Roy Hargrove's Quintet, touring Europe, Japan and the U.S., and appearing on four recordings for the Novus record label.

Later, Mr. Hart formed his own quintet and produced his 1991 debut outing for Novus entitled, For The First Time. Three more albums for the label followed, including a well-received tribute to Cannonball Adderley and Woody Shaw, released in 1992.

The Boston Camerata

What then is Love? —This delightful Camerata program recalls the poetic and musical glories of Renaissance England in the time of Shakespeare. A mixed consort of voices and instruments performs a lively evening of partsongs, songs to the lute, pavanes, galliards, and ground basses — all built around the theme of romantic love. Composers include Dowland, Campion, Holborne, Morley, and others.

Monday, May 6 - 8 pm
Front Orch/Balc $30, Rear Orch/Balc $27

Music from India:
Zakir Hussain's Masters of Percussion with Sultan Khan, sarangi

Zakir Hussain is the undisputed master of the tabla, acclaimed throughout the world as well as in India (where he is a "National Treasure.") The son of tabla legend Alla Rakha, Hussain is a principal architect of the world music movement. Joining him will be a troupe of India's leading percussionists on a wide variety of other folk drums. His special guest Ustad Sutan Khan is master of the sarangi, whose three tiers of strings make it truly the "instrument of a hundred singing colors."

Tuesday, May 7 - 8 pm
Front Orch/Balc $32, Rear Orch/Balc $29

Andre Watts,
piano

This modern day giant of the keyboard continues to play in the heroic tradition of Liszt and Rubinstein. Andre Watts' debut at the age of 16 with Leonard Bernstein and the New York Philharmonic at a televised Young People's Concert is the stuff of legend, and he continues to win admiration and applause more than thirty years later.

New Date: Tuesday, May 14 - 8 pm
Front Orch/Balc $38, Rear Orch/Balc $35
Rescheduled from April 2. All tickets honored on new date.*

Blawenburg Band Will Celebrate 112th Year

The Blawenburg Band will give its 112th anniversary concert in the Montgomery High School Auditorium on Saturday, May 11, at 8 p.m.. The concert will feature musical favorites ranging from standards to modern audience favorites. The concert is free.

The program will feature the artistry of young Leslie Godfrey on the oboe; she has already made four appearances in Carnegie Hall. There will also be a guest appearance by Loras Schissel, founder and conductor of Washington's Virginia Grand Military Band. A Dixieland session and refreshments will follow the concert.

The band is conducted by Dr. Jerry Rife, Professor of Music and Chair of the Music Area at Rider University. No longer a small town band, this 60-member unit is now a polished musical organization performing more than 30 concerts a year.

This concert honors more than a century of the band's treasured tradition — that of bringing musical entertainment to the Central New Jersey community. For more than a century of church socials, parades, picnics and town concerts, Blawenburg's dedicated musicians have been the featured entertainment. Much of its work today involves appearances at nursing homes, veterans hospitals and retirement communities.

Including the events of its Dixieland ensemble, the band makes as many as 35 performances per year. It has appeared at Princeton University's Richardson Auditorium and the alumni parade honoring alumni who performed military service. It has appeared twice at concerts in Washington D.C. at the Ellipse in front of the White House.

This concert will honor the centenary of the birth of composer Richard Rodgers with a version of his 1949 musical, South Pacific.

A CENTRAL JERSEY TREASURE: The Blawenburg Band will honor the centenary of composer Richard Rodgers at its 112th anniversary concert at Montgomery High School, Burnt Hill Road, Skillman, on May 11 at 8 p.m.

Steinway Society Sets Sunday Musicales

The Greater Princeton Steinway Society will present its 12th season of Sunday afternoon musicales. The musicales, presented by area musicians, support the Society's annual scholarship program.

The recitals and receptions to meet the artists are held Sundays at 4 p.m. in the Recital Hall of Jacobs Music, 2540 Brunswick Pike, Lawrenceville. Admission is $10 ($8 for members; $5 for students 25 and under).

The musicales will begin on May 5 with a performance by Ray Landers. The program will include Mozart's Variations on Ah! vous, dirol-je Momon; Beethoven's Rondo o Copriccio; Gershwin's Rhapsody in Blue; and Moussorgsky's Selections from Pictures at an Exhibition.

Dr. Landers is on the preparatory music faculty of Montclair State University and is artistic director of the Suzuki Piano Program.

Triomphe de l'amour To End Season Of Baroque Concerts

Le Triomphe de l'amour, New Jersey's chamber ensemble performing music of the Baroque on period instuments, will present the final concert of its 2001-2002 season on Saturday, May 11 at 8 p.m. at the Unitarian Church of Princeton, Cherry Hill Road and Route 206.

The program will feature guest artist soprano Laura Heimes in the virtuoso dramatic cantata Lucrezio of Handel, and a rarely heard sacred cantata by Telemann from his collection Dos Hormonische Gottesdienst.

Rounding out the program will be the Trio sonata in F for recorder, violin and continuo by Handel, the Trio sonata in F for recorder, viola da gamba and continuo by Telemann, and a violin sonata for Pentecost by Heinrich Biber.

Praised for her "sumptuous tone and shimmering clarity," soprano Laura Heimes enjoys an active career on the concert and oratorio stage.

She has performed extensively throughout the East Coast, including several collaborations with Piffaro-The Renaissance Band, a group with which she has toured throughout the United States, as well as appearing as soloist with the New York Collegium, Brandywine Baroque, the Mendelssohn Club of Philadelphia, Orchestra 2001, The Choral Society of Montgomery County, Pennsylvania Pro Musica, Singing City, and the Philadelphia Classical Symphony.

Le Triomphe de l'amour's first CD, of Telemann Trio Sonatas, was released on the Lyrichord label in 1999. The ensemble's second CD, presenting the world-premiere of the Trio Sonatas op. 41 by Joseph Bodin de Boismortier, is to be released by Newport Classics.

Tickets are $14, $10 for senior citizens, and $5 for students. For information, call 730-8796.

Masters of Percussion Due at McCarter May 7

The Indian Classical/World Music tabla virtuoso Zakir Hussain will present the "Masters of Percussion" at McCarter Theatre on Tuesday, May 7 at 8 p.m. This ensemble features some of the finest percussionists from both North and South India.

Under the direction of Zakir Hussain, the concert offers the listener an opportunity to experience both the melodic (Raga) and the rhythmic (Tala) development. The ensemble includes the Sarangi maestro Ustad Sultan Khan and the young Kanjira performer, Selva Ganesh.

A Tabla exponent, Zakir Hussain straddles both the fields of Indian classical and world music. An accompanist for many of India's greatest musicians and dancers from Ali Akbar Khan and Ravi Shankar to Birju Maharaj and Shivkumar Sharma, his playing is marked by improvisational dexterity.

Ustad Sultan Khan is among India's most acclaimed sarangi players, known for his technical and melodic control of a difficult instrument. The grandson of Ustad Azim Khan and the son of Ustad Gulab Khan — both famous sarangi masters — he represents the Indora gharana tradition.

Playing frequently either solo or as accompanist to India's greatest vocalists, he has scored music for numerous films and stage productions, and has toured extensively throughout the U.S. and Europe with Ravi Shankar.

The other musicians featured in the Masters of Percussion concert are: Fazal Qureshi (tabla); Bhavani Shankar (pakhawaj); Taufiq Qureshi (percussion); Selva Ganesh (kanjira); A. Saravanan (tavil); and, Vijay Chanhan (folk drums).

Tickets at $35 and $38 are available by calling 258-2787 or online at www.mccarter.org. $10 student tickets are also available with proper ID.

Pro Musica To Present 'Elijah' At Richardson

Princeton Pro Musica will present Mendelssohn's Elijah, with David Arnold in the title role, on Saturday, May 4, at 8 p.m. The performance will be in Richardson Auditorium in Alexander Hall at Princeton University.

Other soloists will include Rochelle Ellis, soprano; Ory Brown, mezzo-contralto; and Mark Mulligan, tenor. The Princeton Girlchoir, directed by Jan Westrick, will also be featured. Frances Fowler Slade, Music Director of Princeton Pro Musica, will conduct the full chorus and orchestra.

When composing Elijah, Mendelssohn said, "The personages should act and speak as living human beings." He wanted to depict "a real world, such as you find in every chapter of the Old Testament."

Baritone David Arnold, who has made Elijah one of his signature roles, brings vast operatic experience to the role, which he sings from memory.

David Arnold has performed with the Metropolitan Opera, the Spoleto Festival in Italy, L'Opera de Montreal, and Berlin's Komische Oper. He has sung with the Chicago Symphony, the Israel Philharmonic, and the Boston Symphony. His recording of Elijah was released in 1999.

Rochelle Ellis, soprano, has sung under the batons of Christoph Eschenbach with the Houston Symphony; James DePriest with the Oregor Symphony; and Raymond Leppard with the Indianapolis Symphony.

Recent performances have been with the New Jersey Symphony, the National Chorale, and the New York City Opera.

Mezzo-contralto Ory Brown has appeared as soloist with the Little Orchestra Society of New York, the St. Luke's Chamber Ensemble, and the Berkshire Choral Festival. She sang the world premiere of Libby Larsen's Eleanor Roosevelt, which was broadcast on National Public Radio.

A recent venture was a New Year's Eve performance of the Beethoven Ninth Symphony with the Brooklyn Philharmonic on the Late Show with David Letterman.

Mark Mulligan, tenor, is in his third season with New York City Opera, where he has performed such works as Poul Bunyan and The Bartered Bride.

He has been seen at Carnegie Hall under the direction of Lukas Foss and with the National Opera Company, Lyric Opera Cleveland, Opera Columbus, Ohio Light Opera, and the Julliard Opera Company.

Tickets are $25 and $30 for adults and $10 and $15 for students. To order, call Princeton Pro Musica at 683-5122.

Boston Camerata Making McCarter Debut

The Boston Camerata, one of the best known early music ensembles, will make its McCarter Theatre debut on Monday, May 6, at 8 p.m.

This 12-member mixed consort of voice and instruments will perform "What Then Is Love? An Elizabethan Songbook," an evening of part songs, songs to the lute, pavanes, galliards and madrigals by Dowland, Campion, Morley, Holborne, and others, all built around the theme of romantic love.

The Boston Camerata has been performing around the world for more than four decades. Under the direction of its founder, Joel Cohen, the Camerata has a reputation for consistently unique programming and superb execution.

In the United States, The Boston Camerata have presented an extensive touring schedule of Early Music Festivals including repeat performances at the Tanglewood Festival and the Kalamazoo Medieval Institute.

They have numerous recordings on the Erato, Harmonia Mundi, Nonesuch and Telefunken labels, and are the recipients of the Grand Prix du disque for their recording Tristan et Iseult. Their recording of Jean Gilles' Requiem was a best-seller in Europe.

Perhaps the Camerata's best-known recording is Simple Gifts, a recording of Shaker spirituals and chants, which was the number one bestseller on the national Billboard magazine classical chart during 1995 and 1996.

A second recording of Shaker songs, The Golden Harvest, was released in the autumn of 2000.

Tickets are $27 and $30. To charge by phone, call 258-2787 or visit www.mccarter.org.

Piano Recital Set By Alexandra Kozlov

Pianist Alexandra Kozlov, a junior at The Pennington School, will perform in concert on Sunday, May 5, at 2 p.m. in Scheide Hall on the Princeton Theological Seminary campus.

Her program will include works by Bach, Liszt, Prokofiev, and others. The recital is open to the public and free of charge. A reception will follow.

Ms. Kozlov, a Princeton resident, began playing the piano at age 6; she performed in her first public recital six months later. The next year she was accepted into the Honors Program for Gifted Students of the Mannes College of Music in New York, where she continues to study.

At age 8, she performed a Haydn concerto with the Mannes Chamber Players and soon afterward was selected for the French documentary Les Petits Mozart. At age 10, Ms. Kozlov, selected by audiotape, became the youngest participant in the history of the Canadian International Music Festival at the Centre d'Arts Orford, where professional musicians come every summer to perform.

McCarter Announces Summer Shakespeare '02

McCarter Theatre Education has announced audition dates for high school students in grades nine through 12 for Summer Shakespeare 2002 on Wednesday and Thursday, May 10 and 11.

Admission to the program is by audition only. Appointments are now being accepted by calling the McCarter Education Department at 258-6510.

Summer Shakespeare is an intensive five-week program that focuses on classical dramatic training. Students who are admitted will participate in a rigorous program that includes Acting, Improvisation, Combat, Make-up, Mime, Movement, Shakespeare Studies, and Stagecraft.

This year, Summer Shakespeare will culminate in public performances of two full-length Shakespearean plays, three performances of Hamlet and three of Much Ado About Nothing.

Christopher T. Parks, McCarter's Education Director, returns as director of the Summer Shakespeare program for the fifth year. A graduate of Rutger's University's Mason Gross School of the Arts, he was a founding member of the New Jersey Renaissance Festival. The programs codirectors will be McCarter Theatre Education professionals Tracy Bersley and Laurie Sales.

Summer Shakespeare 2002 runs from June 24 through July 28, Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. (also Saturday and Sunday, July 20 and 21, July 27 and 28). The cost of the program is $950 with some scholarships available. For more information call the McCarter Theatre Education Department at 258-6510.

"Kids Concert" Slated For Taplin Auditorium

On Thursday, May 2, Taplin Auditorium will be the setting for a cooperative venture between the Arts Council and the Composers Ensemble of Princeton University.

An evening of original compositions created specifically for children by graduate and undergraduate students in Princeton University's music department, this free "Kids Concert" will present a range of music, including songs from new musicals, "classical ABCs," and electronic music generated by children using video game controllers.

Organized by graduate student Ted Coffey, the concert is intended to "initiate and nurture a mutually beneficial relationship between composers and kids: the kids get a chance to learn about concert music in an informal setting (it's okay to make noise, it's okay to ask questions!), while the composers get a chance to communicate with a new and adventurous audience."

Graduate student Newton Armstrong has been working with six children from the Princeton Regional Schools to help him create his composition using Playstation controllers.

He says, "The way our everyday technologies work is defined for us in advance. I want to turn that inside out and have kids design the way these objects work. Thus each child is using the controllers to play with recordings of his or her own voice, then fitting that recording together with those of the other children to collaborate on a piece of music."

Other Princeton University students who have composed original pieces to be presented on May 2 include graduate students Ben Binder, Paul Botelho, Emily Doolittle, Brooke Joyce, Stefan Weisman, Mary Wright, and Miriama Young. Undergraduates Ajay Kapur and Jacob Weiss will also present original works.

The concert is geared toward children in grades K through eight, but all are welcome. There will also be opportunity for audience participation.

The concert begins at 7 p.m. No reservations or advance tickets are necessary. Taplin Auditorium is located in Fine Hall, on the corner of Washington Road and Ivy Lane. There is free parking in the University lots off Ivy Lane.

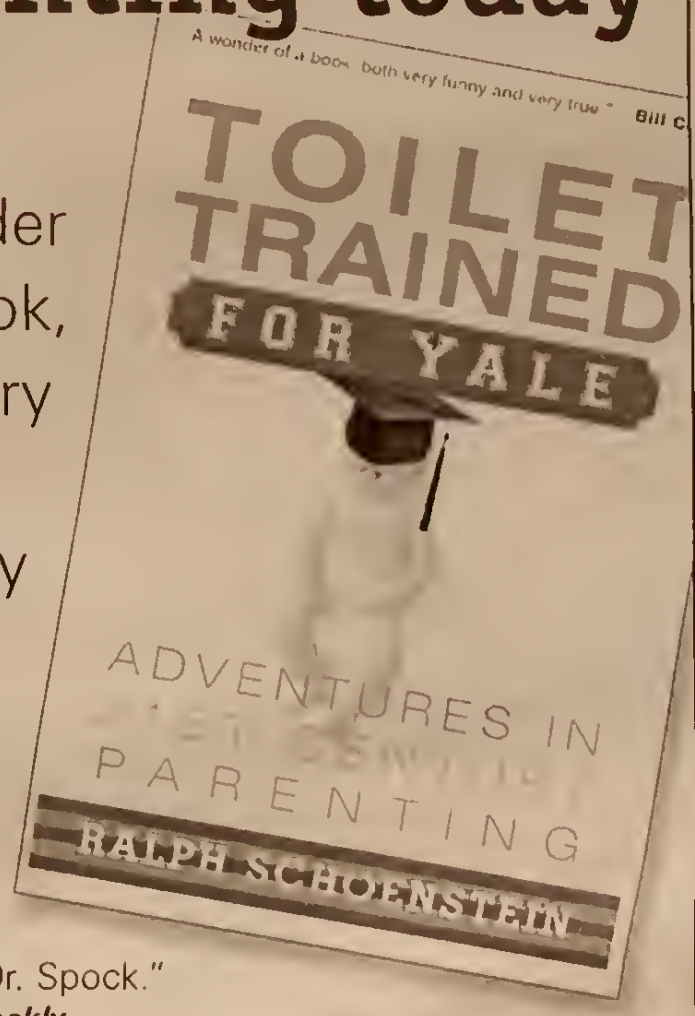
A one-of-a-kind send-up of parenting today

"A wonder of a book, both very funny and very true."
Bill Cosby



"Move over Dr. Spock."
Publishers Weekly

"The undisputed king of writing on parenthood."
Kirkus Reviews

"It seems impossible for a book to be both so funny and so important, but this one is. Hilarious, chilling, and moving too."
Joan Rivers

"Ralph Schoenstein writes these marvelous smiling pages, with each one prompting glee from the reader. And then you happen to notice that underneath all the laughs are these ferocious teeth."
Jimmy Breslin

In Toilet Trained for Yale: Adventures in 21st-Century Parenting Ralph Schoenstein offers a hilarious look at the amazingly absurd—and alarming—lengths to which today's parents go to gain a competitive edge for their kids. He writes that "America is now crawling with parents who are driving their darlings toward acceptance at both Harvard and the Menninger Clinic, parents who will sacrifice anything to make their children superior. They will even sacrifice the children." In this new book, Schoenstein introduces us to the many new perversions of parenting—from Pre-natal University (where expectant mothers play Mozart to their bellies) to Pre-School IQ admissions testing to Yoga-for-Toddlers.

MOVIE REVIEW

"Enigma"

117 minutes, Rated: R
Directed by Michael Apted
Featuring Dougray Scott, Saffron Burrows, Jeremy Northam and Kate Winslet

Based on the best-selling novel by Robert Harris and adapted for the screen by Tom Stoppard, Enigma is a dark and complex film set at England's Bletchley Park during WWII. Bletchley was where Britain's most brilliant mathematicians and cryptographers intercepted and deciphered German radio communications.

Enigma begins in 1943 when a sullen, unkempt mathematician named Tom Jericho (Dougray Scott) is summoned back to Bletchley. Tom had been on leave recovering from a nervous breakdown brought on by his obsessive love for a promiscuous coworker named Claire (Saffron Burrows).

Tom is pretty much of a burnt-out case but his old team of code-breakers needs his skills more than ever. The Germans have changed their naval codes and their U-boats are now using the new codes as they stalk convoys of Allied supply ships.

Tom goes to Claire's house and learns from her roommate, Hester (a marvelously dowdy Kate Winslet in black-rimmed spectacles and sensible shoes), that Claire has disappeared. Tom searches Claire's room and finds a sheaf of undeciphered German Navy messages underneath the floorboards. Tom and Hester set out to solve the mystery of the vanished Claire and her connection to the German messages.

The movie's performances are all top notch, but Jeremy Northam as an infuriatingly smug, witty British intelligence agent named Wigram steals the show. Wigram believes Claire is a German spy and that Tom and Hester know where Claire is. Wigram seems to pop out from around every corner as he shadows Tom and Hester.

Enigma is a classy, compelling old-fashioned espionage movie that evokes early Hitchcock classics such as The 39 Steps, Foreign Correspondent and Saboteur.

Pianist's Book Explores Beethoven Sonatas

Pianist Robert Taub is the author of a new book, Playing the Beethoven Piano Sonatas, published by Amadeus Press, Portland, Ore.

Mr. Taub offers the unique insights of a musician who has performed all 32 of Beethoven's piano sonatas in concert throughout the world, including Princeton.

He has immersed himself in these works, and his interpretations have evolved through time and experience. In Playing the Beethoven Piano Sonatas, he shares this understanding with listeners and players alike.

In the first part of the book, Mr. Taub lays the foundation. Beethoven composed more piano sonatas than substantial works of any other single genre, and he cared deeply about every nuance of their performance.

Mr. Taub shares what he has learned from Beethoven's own writing and autograph scores: Beethoven's convictions about the integrity of each work, the refinements he made in his sketchbooks, his outspoken opinions about tempo, pedaling, and dynamics, his humor, and his insistence that his publishers get the details right.

For the rest of the book, Mr. Taub considers each of the 32 sonatas grouped into nine programs, looking beyond just "getting the notes" to convey the essence of each work and to understand its place in the evolution of Beethoven's revolutionary artistry.

Mr. Taub's recordings of the complete Beethoven piano sonatas have been critically acclaimed, and he is renowned for his interpretations of contemporary music as well.

A resident of Princeton, he served as the first artist-in-residence since T.S. Eliot at the Institute for Advanced Study, and the first musician to hold the honor.

'Music, Maestro, Please!' Ends Children's Season

A repeat performance of "Music, Maestro, Please!" comes to Mercer County Community College's Kelsey Theatre on Saturday, May 11 at 2 and 4 p.m. The theater is located on Mercer's West Windsor Campus, 1200 Old Trenton Road.

Under the direction of Lou Woodroff, the Mercer County Community Band presents this interactive concert, which provides children with an opportunity to sing, play an instrument and learn about music. Everyone receives a souvenir "instrument" to take home.

Tickets are $8 for everyone. To purchase tickets, call the Kelsey Hotline at 584-9444 or visit www.mccc.edu/kelseytheatre. Free parking is available next to the theater.

"Mystery of King Tut" To Be Unearthed at Kelsey

The mysteries of ancient Egypt will be unearthed at Mercer County Community College's Kelsey Theatre, when Theatreworks/USA presents The Mystery of King Tut on Saturday, May 4 at 2 and 4 p.m. The theater is located on Mercer's West Windsor campus, 1200 Old Trenton Road.

Presented in the Raiders of the Lost Ark tradition, Theatreworks brings Egyptian history to life in this musical adventure, linking the boy king Tutankhamen and archeologist Howard Carter, the man who made him famous. When Carter finally uncovers Tutankhamen's hidden tomb, a mysterious tale of political betrayal emerges.

Theatreworks/USA is one of Kelsey's most popular visiting theater companies. In recent appearances, it has presented audiences with performances of Island of the Blue Dolphins and Ferdinand the Bull.

Creating, producing and touring its original productions nationwide, Theatreworks has performed for approximately 60 million children and adults since its founding in 1961.

The company has earned numerous honors including the Drama Desk Award and the Lucille Lorten Award presented by Off Broadway theaters and producers.

Tickets are $8 for everyone. To purchase, call584-9444 or visit www.mccc edu/kelseytheatre. Free parking is available next to the theater.

Women's Lacrosse Conquers Maryland; Wins Ivy League Title Outright at Brown

Princeton concluded the women's lacrosse regular season last week with a come from behind 13-9 victory over Maryland on April 24 at the Class of 1952 Stadium that stunned the seven time national champions. Princeton capped the Ivy League season with a 10-6 victory at Brown last Saturday that clinched the conference championship outright for the Tigers for the first time since 1996. The win also left Princeton a 7-0 league record, its first ever undefeated Ivy season.

Last season Princeton shared the Ivy crown with Dartmouth, and was eliminated in the national semifinals by the Terrapins. This season, in all likelihood, the Tigers will enter the tournament as the No. 1 seed. Princeton currently holds the nation's longest winning streak with 15 consecutive wins. The 2002 NCAA bracket and seedings will be announced on Sunday, May 5. In the meantime, it was business as usual for Old Nassau last week.

Fortieth Goal of the Season

Princeton jumped to a 1-0 lead over Brown on a goal by freshman Lindsay Biles at 3:11 of the first period. The Bears' Laura Pierpoint tied the score just over a minute later, but senior sensation Lauren Simone gave the Tigers the lead for good (2-1) when she netted her 40th goal of the season.

Princeton scored three consecutive goals and took a 4-1 lead before the Bears answered with back-to-back goals to cut the lead to 4-3. The Tigers responded with goals by sophomore Mary Beth Hogan and senior Charlotte Kenworthy to push their lead to 6-3.

Brown once again rallied, and with two consecutive goals, had cut the margin to 6-5 by halftime. Princeton scored the first four goals of the second half, two by senior Kim Smith, and led 10-5. Brown added a goal with two minutes remaining for the final margin.

Biles and Smith finished with two goals apiece, while Hogan, Kenworthy, Simone, Elizabeth Pillion, Whitney Miller and Alex Fiore all registered one goal apiece.

Biggest Challenge

Princeton faced its biggest challenge of the season on April 24 when it battled Maryland under the lights at the Class of 1952 Stadium. The Terrapins had beaten Princeton 11 straight times, including one victory in each of the last two years during the NCAA Tournament. The Tigers were out to snap that streak, to protect their No. 1 national ranking, and to win a school record 14th consecutive game. They did it with poise, composure, and a flurry of goals near game's end that resulted in the team's 13-9 victory.

Behind Five Points

Princeton fell behind 5-0 at 18:47 of the first half after Maryland's Courtney Hobbs and Sonia Judd netted two goals apiece, and Annie Collins added another. It was the biggest deficit of the season for Princeton.

"We called a timeout when Maryland went up 3-0, and they still scored two more goals," said Tiger head coach Chris Sailer. "Maryland was pressing us really hard. We were having trouble with our stick skills. We spent the first 15-20 minutes of the game on defense, but then we relaxed and settled down."

Pillion started a furious Tiger rally when she netted a free position goal at 20:08 to narrow the gap to 5-1.

"The key was getting that first goal," Sailer explained. "That gave us a spark."

Smith scored on an assist from Simone at 21:11 to cut the Maryland lead to 5-2, Kenworthy followed with an unassisted goal for Princeton at 23:12, and teammate Theresa Sherry narrowed the margin to 5-4 with a free position goal at 24:03.

Maryland pushed its lead to 6-4 on an unassisted goal by Collins at 25:45, but Simone drew Princeton to within a goal (6-5) at 25:58. She then found Sherry for a score at 27:54, and the game was suddenly tied at 6-6.

Netted Last Shot of the Half

The Terrapins won the ensuing draw control, but Tiger senior Brooke Owens gave her team possession when she drew a charge. It also gave Princeton an opportunity to net the last shot of the half, and to take its first lead of the game. The Tigers did both when Smith netted a free position shot with :14 remaining to put the team in front 7-6 at the break.

"We have had a great season. I'm just really proud of how the team has grown all season."

Maryland responded in the second half with back-to-back goals by Acacia Walker at 3:18 and 8:43. That put the Terps ahead 8-7. Princeton tied the score at 8-8 after Simone found Kenworthy for a goal at the 9:49 mark of the second period, but Maryland regained the lead (9-8) on a goal by Judd at 10:12.

Kenworthy tied the score after taking a feed from Simone at the 18:46 mark, and Fiore gave Princeton the lead for good at 10-9 after she snared a deflection off Maryland goalie Alex Venchanos and poked the ball in the net at 22:50. Simone upped Princeton's lead to 12-9 when she scored back-to-back unassisted goals at 26:43 and 27:01, and Hammerberg capped the scoring with a goal on an assist from Smith at 28:37.

"It was great game for us, in terms of preparation," Saller commented. We haven't been in a game this season where we've had a big deficit. This will really help us down the road. We have had a great season. I'm just really proud of how the team has grown all season."

Simone and Kenworthy finished with three goals apiece, while Simone also registered three assists. Sherry and Smith scored twice, and Fiore, Hammerberg and Pillion all finished with one goal apiece. Tiger freshman goalie Sarah Kolodner tallied nine saves in goal.

Men's Lacrosse Dumps Dartmouth; Will Face Brown for the Ivy Title

The Princeton men's lacrosse team moved one step closer to clinching the Ivy League championship after dropping Dartmouth 13-7 at Scully-Fahey Field in Hanover, New Hampshire last Saturday. The Tigers will conclude their season at Brown this Saturday at 1, in what is now the league championship game. That's because the Bears defeated Cornell 9-8 in overtime last weekend.

Brown and Princeton are both tied at 4-1 in the Ivy League, while the Big Red and Yale both finished the Ivy season with 4-2 marks. Penn ended the conference season at 3-3, while Dartmouth and Harvard currently stand at 0-5. They will face-off against one another this Saturday at 7.

Brad Dumont led Princeton past Dartmouth last weekend with a career-high five points. He scored twice and dished out three assists. Sean Hartofilis led the Tigers in scoring with three goals.

Two Goals in 8 Minutes

Dumont scored both of his goals in the first eight minutes of the contest, but Dartmouth rallied to tie the score at 2-2 on goals by Tom Daniels and Casey Burlage. Dumont ended the first quarter with a feed to Boyle, who netted a goal as time ran out to give Princeton a 3-2 cushion heading into the second period.

Princeton scored three unanswered goals in the second period, two of those by Hartofilis, and led 6-2 at halftime. The Tigers took advantage of a scoring drought by the Bears and led 9-2 at one point. Princeton led 13-5 late in the game before the Big Green scored twice for the final margin.

"It was a tough week for us mentally," said Tiger head coach Bill Tierney, whose squad had just come off a key win against Cornell the previous week. "We did what we had to do. We weren't completely sharp, and Dartmouth had some wrinkles for us. But we played well when we needed to and did the things we had to do to win."

> "It was a tough week for us mentally... But we played well when we needed to and did the things we had to do to win."

11 Saves in 50 Minutes

Tiger goalie Julian Gould had eight saves in the first half, and 11 total in 50 minutes of action.

"Julian made some big saves in the second quarter," Tierney commented. "It was 6-2, but I told the team it could have been 6-6 without Julian. Now we have another big week, and it's up to Providence to play for a championship."

This game between Princeton and Brown should be a shootout between two potent offensive teams. The Tigers have seven players that have registered ten or more goals this season. Hartofilis leads the team with 23 goals, B.J. Prager has netted 21, and Dumont has 18. Boyle has scored 17 times and leads the team in assists with 24. Dan Clark has 12 goals, Josh White 11, and Owen Daly 10.

Senior attackman Jimmy Mormile leads the Bears in scoring with 30 goals. Junior attackman Jon Thompson has registered 24 goals so far this season for Brown, while teammate Chas Gessner has 21 goals and leads the team with 13 assists. Ryan Culligan and Brian Miller are also scoring threats for the Bears. Miller has 17 goals and eight assists, and Culligan has 11 goals and 12 assists.

Trevino, Irwin, and Others Commit to Instinet Classic

Lee Trevino and Hale Irwin are among a group of Senior PGA Tour golfers which has recently committed to play in the Instinet Classic, to be held at the Tournament Players Club at Jasna Polana in Princeton from May 13 through May 19.

Trevino and Irwin will join two-time defending Instinet Classic champion Gil Morgan, course designer Gary Player, Jim Dent, Chi Chi Rodriguez, and other Senior Tour golfers in the tournament.

"We are delighted to welcome Lee Trevino to the Instinet Classic," said Mary Ann Saleski, the tournament's executive director. "Lee has always been recognized as one of the Senior Tour's great personalities, so area fans are in for a real treat!"

Trevino, 62, won the tournament twice — in 1992 and again in 1994 — when it was known as the Bell Atlantic Classic and played at the Chester Valley Golf Club in Malvern, P.A. Throughout his career, Trevino has captured 29 Senior PGA Tour victories and 27 PGA Tour victories, resulting in fifth place on the all-time money leader list with $12.9 million.

Referring to Irwin, Ms. Saleski said, "He is the all-time money leader on the Senior Tour and the first to reach $20 million in winnings. The fans love watching his game."

The current 2002 Senior PGA Tour money leader with $871,000 in winnings in only seven events, Irwin has two victories on this year's tour including the ACE Group Classic and the Toshiba Senior Classic. He is also leading the senior players in putting average with a 1.673 through 21 rounds. With an illustrious 29-year career, 20 PGA Tour victories, and three U.S. Open titles, Irwin was inducted into the World Golf Hall of Fame in 1992.

Hosted by the Instinet Corporation, the tournament will benefit breast cancer research and treatment at the Leonard and Madlyn Abramson Family Cancer Research Institute at the University of Pennsylvania Cancer Center.

For more information about the Instinet Classic or to inquire about Pro-Am sponsorships, ticket sales, or volunteer opportunities, contact the Tournament Office at 239-2700.

Harris Sets Record For High Jump At Penn Relays

Princeton's Tora Harris set a new school record and tied the Penn Relays record when he cleared the 2.30m (7'6.50") in the high jump championship at the Penn Relays. Harris held the old Princeton record of 7'5.25", which was set last year.

Josh McCaughey broke the Princeton record when he registered a distance of 62.09m (203'8") in the hammer throw championship. That eamed him a fourth place finish in the competition. McCaughey had set the school record last season with a mark of 202'8".

The Princeton 4 x 800m relay team of Jon Klieliszak, Josh Kauke, Ryan Smith and Dave Dean finished fourth in the event with a time of 7:23.88. Georgetown won the race with a time of 7:20.07.

The Tigers' distance medley relay team of Klieliszak, Mike Kopp, Rob Hulik and Kevin Gallagher finished in 13th place of the Championship of America bracket with a time of 10:02.48.

Princeton's Rocky Craley finished second in the Eastern shot put with a distance of 16.84m (55'3") while teammate Jeff Petrulis finished in 20th with a mark of 14.39 (47'2.50")

Kopp, John Karakoulakis, Solomon Barnett and Pat Schottel comprised the Princeton 4 x 400m relay team that finished sixth in the Heptagonal 4 x 400, relay with a time of 3:15.31. The team from Penn finished first with a time of 3:13.06.

Women's Trock

In women's track, Chelo Canino finished fourth for Princeton in the pole vault at the Penn Relays after she cleared 3.69m (12'1.25"). Teammate Susan Coltman finished in 21st place in the Eastern long jump with a distance of 5.14m (16'10.5').

The Princeton women's 4 x 800m relay team finished in 15th place with a time of 9:06.59 while the distance medley relay team finished in 11th, crossing the finish line at 12:14.00.

Hasina Outtz finished in 21st place for Princeton in the women's 400m hurdles with a time of 62.31. Teammate Jen Byrd also competed in the 400m hurdles and finished in 50th with a time of 64.97.

Princeton's Catherine Casey finished 11th in the 5,000m with a time of 16:52.81. The Princeton team competing in the Heptagonal 4 x 400m finished in fifth with a time of 3:51.72.

Lions Invitationol

In women's track action at the Lions Invitational on the campus of the College of New Jersey, Princeton's Sarah Rivlin captured the 1,500m title with a time of 4:49.30. She finished 1.60 seconds in front of Amy Burr.

Shannon Smith finished seventh for Princeton in the 100m dash with a time of 13.29, while teammate Didi Yep finished fifth in the 400m with a time of 1:00.67. Princeton's Kate Moore finished in 18th with a time of 1:07.89. Debby Jacobson finished 21st for Princeton in the 800m with a time of 2:28.40.

Princeton's Liz Grau and Becca Hylander finished fourth and sixth in the 5,000m with times of 18:42.00 and 19:08.70. Teammate Carrie Strickland finished sixth in the 400m hurdles with a time of 1:09.42, while the Tigers' Daria Bach finished tied for first in the pole vault by clearing 3.05m.

Rachel Rosemeyer and Betsy Kennedy finished second and third for Princeton in the discus with marks of 39.53m and 38.84m. Rosemeyer and Kennedy finished 8th and 9th in the hammer throw with distances of 39.82m and 39.23m.

Tiger Baseball Sweeps Pace, Rolls over Monmouth Hawks

Princeton won three consecutive games last week, including a doubleheader sweep against Pace University last Saturday, to improve to 19-18 on the season. The Tigers also rolled over Monmouth in a mid-week matchup.

The Tigers jumped out to a 2-0 lead against Pace in Saturday's first game, but the Setters posted three runs in the top of the third to take a 3-2 lead. Princeton tied the score in the bottom of the inning, and scored three runs in the fifth and sixth innings to seal the game.

Princeton starter Ross Ohlendorf struck out seven Pace batters, allowed seven hits and surrendered three runs in five innings on Saturday. He improved his record to 5-2 with the victory.

The Tigers needed a critical base hit in the bottom of the ninth inning from shortstop Pat Boran to pull out the second game 5-4. Boran singled home Steve Young with one out to win the game after Young walked and stole second. It was Boran's third hit of the afternoon, giving him 102 for his career. That ties him with Daniel Arendas, a 1986 graduate, for first in the Princeton record books for hits in a career.

Princeton led 4-0 until Pace posted four runs and tied the score in the top of the fifth inning. The score remained tied until Boran's game-winner.

Jason Vaughan pitched the first four innings for Princeton. He allowed seven hits, four runs and fanned five Pace batters. Scott Hindman pitched two innings for the Tigers, and Bill Broome pitched one to set up Thomas Pauly. He closed out the game and earned the victory.

Princeton's Adam Balkan was 3-for-8 with four RBI's and one run scored, while teammate Ryan Eldridge drove in two runs and was 2-for-4. Young finished with a triple and three stolen bases.

The Tigers and Setters were scheduled to face each other last Sunday, but the game was rained out.

Versus Monmouth

Princeton scored seven runs in the first inning against Monmouth on April 24 and rolled to a 13-1 victory at Clarke Field. The Tigers amassed 17 hits on the afternoon, and were led by Tim Lahey's two doubles and four RBI's. He also scored two runs. Eric Fitzgerald drove in four runs and scored once, while Young was 3-for-3 with a triple, one RBI, and two runs scored.

The Tigers' seven run first inning included five hits and one error. Fitzgerald accounted for three RBI's and a run scored in the inning. Young opened the third inning with a triple, and scored on a double down the left field line by Boran. Jon Miller then lifted a sacrifice fly to left field that scored Boran and gave Princeton a 9-0 advantage.

Princeton scored three runs on three hits in the fourth inning, and posted one run in the seventh inning to take a 13-0 lead. Monmouth scored a run in the top of the eighth for the final margin.

Tiger starting pitcher Chris Higgins carried a no-hitter into the eighth inning before Monmouth's Chuck Gookins singled to left field. Chris Ciminello doubled to score Gookins for Monmouth's lone run.

Higgins (2-1) earned the victory for Princeton with three strikeouts and two hits allowed in eight innings. Tiger reliever Nick Pappas pitched a scoreless, hitless ninth inning.

Princeton was scheduled to play at St. John's on April 30, and will return to Ivy League action against Cornell next weekend. The Tigers will visit the Big Red and will play a twin billing on Friday at 12. The two teams will switch venues and will play two games at Princeton's Clarke Field on Sunday at 12.

Princeton is 11-5 in the Gehrig Division, two full games ahead of 9-7 Columbia. The Lions will visit Penn on Saturday, and will host the Quakers on Sunday. Penn is 8-8 in the Gehrig, while Cornell is 4-12. —Steve Allen

ACQUIRED CATARACTS

When the normally transparent lens becomes opaque, it is known as a cataract. It is important to note that cataract is not a disease, but an opacity of the eye lens. This opacity may be present at birth, or it may develop later in life. The vast majority of cataracts are age-related and develop post the age of 50. Acquired cataracts, on the other hand, can result from injury to the eye, toxic substances, or systemic disease. Medications can also cause cataracts. Perhaps the most common instance of drug-induced cataract involves the use of steroids. Since prolonged use of steroids can bring about opacity of the eye lens, patients taking steroid medications should have their eyes comprehensively examined yearly.

Cataracts can be the result of aging or environmental factors such as an eye injury, toxic substance, or systemic disease. Cataracts can make activities such as reading and driving difficult. Loss of sight from this vision disease is largely preventable. You can help ensure that your sight remains a vital sense throughout your life by having your eyes examined on a routine basis. A complete medical eye examination includes measurement of visual acuity, examination of the cornea, iris, and anterior chamber, and screening for glaucoma and cataracts. Call MONTGOMERY EYE CARE at 609-279-0005 to arrange an eye exam. We are located at Montgomery Center at 1325 Rt. 206.

P.S. The most common symptom of a developing cataract is blurred vision.

Tiger Softball Wins Two At Princeton Invitational

The Princeton softball team stepped out of conference last weekend when it hosted the Princeton Invitational. Day one saw Princeton defeat Manhattan 9-2, and Seton Hall 3-2. Games from day two were cancelled due to rain.

Kim Veenstra and Becky Nemec were both 2-for-4 against Manhattan, while teammate Melissa Finley was 2-for-3. Nemec had the game's only homerun with a solo shot.

Manhattan scored two runs in the top of the first inning, but Princeton responded with five runs in the bottom of the inning. Princeton posted three runs in the third, and one in the sixth to seal the victory. Tiger pitcher Wendy Bingham earned the victory with five strikeouts and eight hits allowed.

Veenstra launched a solo homerun for Princeton in the bottom of the fourth inning against Seton Hall, and Erin Valocsik followed with a two-run blast that gave Princeton a 3-0 lead and helped lift the Tigers over the Pirates.

Seton Hall cut the lead to 3-2 in the fifth inning, but Princeton held on and was the only undefeated team in the tournament heading into play on the second day.

Brie Galicinao earned the win for Princeton against Seton Hall. She struck out seven batters and allowed just five hits. Princeton was scheduled to face St. Peter's on Sunday before the rains came. The Pirates defeated St. Peter's 6-0 and St. Peter's defeated Manhattan 4-3. Seton Hall was scheduled to play Manhattan. No make up date has been announced for the games.

Princeton will return to action on May 1 when it hosts St. Joseph's in its final game of the regular season.

Men's Heavyweight Crew Team Retains Annual Carnegie Cup

The Princeton men's heavyweight crew team clipped Cornell by .5 seconds at Carnegie Lake last weekend to retain the Carnegie Cup. Princeton finished the race with a time of 5:49.7, while the Big Red ended with a time of 5:50.2. Yale finished third at 5:57.4, and Navy was fourth with a time of 6:05.2.

Navy joined the race after the previously scheduled Princeton-Navy dual was cancelled. The inclusion of the Midshipmen gave spectators the rare chance to see each of Lake Carnegie's lanes filled with a boat in unusual four boat racing. All four teams will race each other again at the Eastern Sprints on May 19.

In the second varsity race, Cornell defeated Princeton by four seconds. The Big Red finished in 6:00.4, while Princeton finished with a time of 6:04.6. Navy finished with a time of 6:17.3, and Yale was last with a time of 6:19.9.

The Princeton freshman eight defeated Yale by one boat length. The Tigers recorded a time of 6:09.7, while Yale finished with a time of 6:12.5. Navy was third with a time of 6:12.9, and Yale finished fourth in 6:19.1.

Cornell won the third varsity eight race by four seconds over Princeton with a time of 6:29.2. The Tigers finished in 6:33. Navy was third with a time of 6:38.2, and Yale was fourth with a time of 7:06.6.

Navy secured its only win of the day in the second freshman eight race with a time of 6:35.3. Princeton was second with a time of 6:38.5, Cornell was third with a time of 6:42.7, and Yale finished last in 6:50.8.

The Princeton women's open crew swept all six races against Eastern league rivals Dartmouth and Northeastern last Saturday at Carnegie Lake. Princeton defeated Northeastern by 2.4 seconds in the varsity eight race. The Tigers finished in 6:25.8, while Northeastern finished in 6:28.2. Dartmouth was third with a time of 6:40.6.

Princeton won the second varsity eight race with a time of 6:47, while Northeastern was second with a time of 6:50.6. Dartmouth was third with a time of 6:59.5.

The Tigers won the novice eight race with a time of 6:37, Northeastern was second with a time of 6:43.4, and Dartmouth was third with a time of 6:44.3

Princeton won the second novice eight race with a time of 7:19, Northeastern was second with a time of 7:30.5, and Dartmouth finished a close third with a time of 7:31.9.

Old Nassau won the Varsity Four A race by open water, finishing at 7:32.2. Dartmouth was second with a time of 7:56.3, and Northeastern was third with a time of 8:21.6.

PDS Boys Collapse In Second Half; Lose to Hopewell

The Princeton Day boys' lacrosse team collapsed in the second half of Saturday's game against Hopewell Valley, and the result was a 13-8 loss for the Panthers.

Seniors Izaak Bray and Chris Palsho scored twice in the first two minutes of the game and gave the Panthers a quick 2-0 lead. Palsho finished the afternoon with five goals. Hopewell Valley responded with two consecutive goals and tied the score at 2-2 at the end of the first period.

The Bulldogs scored in the opening seconds of the second period to take a 3-2 lead, but PDS answered with a goal by Russell Joye to tie the score at 3-3. The Panthers regained the lead at 4-3 with 10:38 remaining in the half after Evan Joye found Palsho in front of the goal for a score. Hopewell took the ensuing face-off, raced down the field, and netted a goal to tie the score at 4-4 with 10:32 left in the half.

Russell Joye bounced a shot in goal with 8:29 remaining in the half to give PDS a 5-4 lead, but Hopewell stormed back and tied the score at the 7:40 mark. Bray found Palsho for a goal at 7:18, and Stephen Adams scored with 3:59 left to give the Panthers a 7-5 cushion at halftime.

"I thought the kids got out of the gate really well," said PDS junior varsity head coach Mark Adams, who filled in for varsity head coach Pete Higgins on Saturday. "They did a good job playing out of the gate."

A prophetic voice from the Hopewell Valley huddle screamed "We are not going to lose this game," as the Bulldogs prepared to take the field for the second half. Hopewell scored four times in the third and fourth periods, and held the Panthers to just one goal in the second half. That goal by Palsho came with 11:06 remaining in the contest.

"You have to play four quarters," said Adams. "It's four quarters, 40 minutes of lacrosse. We have to play with our heads up, play smart, and play for four quarters. Our kids didn't keep their heads, and we got a little frazzled down the stretch. Hats off to them (Hopewell Valley). They took advantage of mistakes and over aggressiveness on our part.

"It's hard for the kids. This is an important game for us, in terms of being evenly matched. We felt like we should have beaten Hopewell, but to their credit they played well. Our kids just have to bounce back and get back in the saddle."

"It's the same problem we had at the beginning of the year," said Palsho. "They (Hopewell) pump in two goals and all of a sudden we panic. Then we get into a desperation game where every time we get the ball we feel like we have to put it into the net right away.

"We only have a couple of games left in the season. We have to learn, especially in the playoffs, that if a team scores a goal, we don't have to score right away. We just have to come to practice on Monday, and let this go over our shoulder. We know we're a much better team than this."

The Panthers were scheduled to play at St. Joseph's (Metuchen) on April 30, and will host Peddie this Thursday at 4 before the prep quarterfinals begin next Monday.

WHERE DID IT GO? Princeton Day's Russell Joye, No. 14, thought he had the ball in his net last Saturday as he ran away from Hopewell Valley defenders. Uh, oh Russell! Better look again! (Photo by Steve Allen)

PHS Boys' Lacrosse Wins Two with Ease

The Princeton High trio of Alex Goodman, Whitney Hayes and Bennett Murphy registered a combined 25 goals in two games to help lead the Tigers over non-conference opponents Fairlawn and St. Joseph's of Metuchen last week.

Goodman scored six goals and registered two saves to lead PHS over Fairlawn 16-3 on April 24. The Tigers blew the game open in the first half after scoring once in the opening stanza and six times in the second period. Murphy finished with four goals and one assist, while Hayes scored three goals and had five assists. Lalli made 13 stops in the game.

Murphy and Goodman registered five goals apiece in the Tigers' 14-9 victory over St. Joseph's of Metuchen on April 22. Princeton scored four goals in the opening two periods, and held a commanding 8-2 lead at the break. Hayes aided the offensive attack with two goals and six assists, while Murphy finished with three assists. Lalli stopped 29 shots on the afternoon.

Princeton (7-2) was scheduled to play at North Hunterdon on April 29, at West Windsor-Plainsboro North on April 30, and will host Montgomery on May 3.

Infielder Pokey Reese was on four different Major League rosters in 43 days at the end of 2001 and the beginning of 2002 - Cincinnati, Colorado, Boston and Pittsburgh between December 18th and February 1st. But surprisingly, Reese doesn't hold the record for most teams in the shortest time. That dubious distinction belongs to a pitcher named Mike Kilkenny. Between May 9th and June 11th in 1972, Kilkenny was traded from Detroit to Oakland to San Diego to Cleveland - four teams in 33 days.

I bet you didn't know... Some insurance companies provide "primary" liability on secondary homes. This coverage eliminates the need for primary underlying limits.

* * *

While we're on the subject of trades, can you name the Major League player who was traded the most times in his career? The answer is pitcher Bobo Newsome, who posted a career record of 211 - 222 between 1929 and 1953. During that stretch, Newsome was traded an incredible 16 times, including five different times to the Washington Senators.

* * *

What is considered the greatest upset in stock car racing history? Most fans agree it occurred on February 18, 1990, when Dale Earnhardt blew a tire with one lap to go in the Daytona 500, allowing little known Derrike Cope to slip past for the victory. Tragically, 11 years later to the day, Earnhardt - considered the greatest stock car racer of his era - was killed in a crash on the last turn of the last lap of the same race.

Stuart Lax Thumps Purnell, Clips Peddie, Loses Big at PDS

The Stuart lacrosse team earned key victories last week at Purnell and Peddie, but lost a tough game to Princeton Day. The Tartans stormed past Purnell 13-3 last Saturday, but needed a clutch goal from Tracy Statter on April 24 to get past Peddie 5-4. Things weren't so good as the Tartans stumbled to a 12-6 loss at PDS on April 22.

Kelly Fitzpatrick scored three goals and dished out two assists against Purnell, senior co-captain Virginia Adair scored two goals and registered two assists, Hannah Murnen scored three goals and finished with one assist, while Statter and Pam Long scored two goals apiece. All were key components in the Tartans' win.

"Our fast break opportunities were the best of the season, and our midfield defense caused numerous turnovers," said Stuart head coach Cheryl Wolf. "The offense managed to control the ball for twenty of the twenty five minutes of play in the second half. Hopefully this will give the team the very important momentum going into the Tuesday game versus Montgomery."

Full coverage of that game will be included in the 5/8 edition of Town Topics.

Statter scored the winning goal for Stuart with :32 remaining on April 24 as the Tartans turned back Peddie 5-4. Colleen Farrell gained possession of a crucial ground ball and got it to Fitzpatrick as time was winding down. Fitzpatrick then found Statter for the game winner.

"Our defense was very active, and we took good care of the ball through the midfield," said Stuart head coach Cheryl Wolf. "Our shot selection and location were drastically improved over the PDS game."

The Tartans captilalized on just 6-of-26 shots against Princeton Day on April 22 and the result was a 12-6 loss. Statter led Stuart with three goals, while Murnen, Donnelly and Adair all finished with one goal apiece.

"Stuart had far too many unforced errors and turned the ball over numerous times," said Tartans' head coach Cheryl Wolf. "We created scoring situations but did not use good shot selection. PDS only took 23 shots but was able to find the net twice as many times as we were."

PDS Tops Hun 16-10 At Class of '52 Field

The Princeton Day and Hun girls' lacrosse teams took their game onto the campus of Princeton University last Thursday when the two teams faced off at the Class of 1952 Stadium. Katie Weber netted seven goals for PDS and led the team to a 16-10 victory over the struggling Raiders.

Hun grabbed a 10-7 lead at the half, but the Panthers stormed back with nine unanswered goals in the second half to secure the win. Allison Marshall and Alyssa Briody each scored a hat trick for PDS, while Molly Jamieson scored twice and had three helps. Tara Kirnan led Hun with five goals, and Elizabeth Fries found the back of the net three times in the loss.

The Panthers rallied from a 3-0 first half deficit against Princeton High and won 13-5 going away on April 24. Jamieson led PDS with four goals and one assist, while Briody scored three goals and dished out three assists. Weber, Gosnell and Batt also recorded goals for the Panthers.

Hun gave up ten goals in the first period against Hopewell Valley and fell 13-8 to the Bulldogs on April 24. Tierney led the Raiders with four goals. Fries, Kirnan, Charlotte Heyman and Ariana Pratico all scored one goal apiece.

PHS Girls Lose To PDS, Hopewell

The Princeton High girls' lacrosse team lost two games last week. The Tigers jumped in front of Princeton Day 3-0 on April 24, but couldn't hold the lead. The result was a 13-5 loss. Elizabeth Harvey scored a hat trick for PHS.

Princeton surrendered 12 goals to Hopewell Valley in the first period on April 22 and lost 17-5. Cheryl Lau scored two goals, while Harvey, Kate Denny and Casey LaMarche all added one goal apiece in the loss. Aurora MacRae-Crerar finished the afternoon with seven saves in goal for the Tigers.

The Raiders surrendered ten goals in the second half and lost 14-3 to Lawrenceville on April 24. Fries scored two goals for Hun, while Kirnan added one goal and two assists. Fitzpatrick registered 12 saves on the afternoon.

Hun Boys Win One, Lose One Last Week

The Hun School boys' lacrosse team finished at .500 last week after losing 10-8 to St. Joseph's (Metuchen) last Friday and rebounding to drop Mercersburg 14-4 last Sunday. The Raiders overall record now stands at 7-3 as a result.

Leo Stinson scored five goals in the Raiders' win over Mercersburg. Hun led 7-3 after one period, and ran away with the game after taking a commanding 11-3 halftime lead. Joe Campanella, Matt Wong and Mike Kollar all scored two goals apiece in the victory, while teammates Mike Long, Carner Dickinson and Jordan Gottlieb all registered one goal. Alex Green tallied three assists for Hun, while Campanella finished with two.

Hun took a 3-1 lead in the first period against St. Joseph's last Friday, but St. Joe's rallied to tie the score at 3-3 near the end of the period. Hun responded with two consecutive goals and led 5-3 heading into the second period.

St. Joe's tied the score at 5-5 midway through the second period, but Campanella pushed the Raiders back in front 6-5 with a goal late in the stanza. St. Joe's tied the score at 6-6 with :08 remaining in the half, and led 9-7 after three periods. Hun was unable to tie or take the lead from that point.

Gottlieb and Campanella both finished with two goals and one assist. Green, Stinson, Wong and Matt Collier also scored for Hun.

The Raiders were scheduled to host Blair on April 29 and will play at West Windsor-Plainsboro North this Friday.

PHS Nine Wins In Round One Of Mercer Tourney

Princeton pulled a mild upset in high school baseball after toppling McCorristin 6-4 in the first round of the Mercer County Tournament last Saturday. The 12th-seeded Tigers advanced to play fourth-seeded Ewing at 2:30 this Saturday at Mercer County Community College. In between, PHS was scheduled to play Hun at Waterfront Park at 3:30 on April 30. The Tigers will then host Notre Dame on May 1, and Ewing on May 3. Both games are slated for 4 at Smoyer Park.

The Iron Mikes took a 3-0 lead in the bottom of the first inning, but Princeton rallied to cut the lead to 3-2 in the top of the second. Jon Trapasso and Dan O'Brien led off the inning with back-to-back singles, and then both scored on a bases loaded walk to Sam Coggeshall and a sacrifice fly by Rob Begin.

Princeton tied the score at 3-3 on a single by Joe Aprigliano in the fifth inning that scored Ian Zack. The Tigers took a 5-3 lead in the sixth inning after Coggeshall scored on a close play at the plate, and Matt Manley lifted a sacrifice fly to score Stuart Abram.

McCorristin added a run in the bottom of the sixth for a 5-4 score, but Begin singled home the game's final run in the seventh to secure the victory for Princeton.

Rough Start

O'Brien allowed back-to-back doubles and balked twice in the first inning, allowing McCorristin to jump in front 3-0. O'Brien settled down and allowed just one hit for the remainder of the game. He also finished the game in style by ending it with five consecutive strikeouts.

Trapasso, Coggeshall and Aprigliano all finished with two hits, while Begin ended the afternoon with two RBI's.

Trapasso launched a walk-off homer to lift the Tigers over West Windsor-Plainsboro North 10-8 on April 24. Princeton took a 2-0 lead in the bottom of the second inning after Dan O'Brien homered. The Knights then rallied to take a 4-2 lead in the top of the third, thanks in part to a two-run blast by Doug Caracappo.

The Tigers tied the score at 4-4 in the bottom of the third inning, and grabbed a 6-4 lead in the bottom of the fifth on a homerun by Trapasso. Princeton added a run in the fifth and led 7-4 heading into the sixth inning.

WW-P N's Brian Dimitruk blasted a two-run homerun in the top of the sixth that cut the Princeton lead to 7-6, and the Knights added two more runs in the top of the seventh for an 8-7 lead. The Tigers sent the game to extra innings with a run in the bottom of the seventh, and won the game on Trapasso's blast in the eighth.

Trapasso was 2-for-5 at the plate with three RBI's and two runs scored, and he also earned a complete game victory on the hill with five strikeouts and nine hits allowed.

PDS Rallies in Seventh To Top Saddle River

The Princeton Day baseball team rallied from a 4-3 deficit, scored three runs in the top of the seventh, and squeaked past Saddle River 6-4 last Saturday. Panther relief pitcher Will King fanned six batters in four innings, and hit the game-winning double to help PDS improve to 5-7. Ben Johnson finished with three RBI's for the Panthers, while Chris Peters and and Brian Caulin each had one.

PDS lost a heartbreaker to Allentown 4-3 last Friday. The Panthers led 3-1 until the Redbirds tied the score with two runs in the bottom of the fifth inning. Allentown scored the game-winner in the bottom of the sixth on a pinch hit single. Peters was 2-for-4 with one run scored, while Ben Johnson was 2-for-3 with one RBI.

The Panthers managed just three hits in a 7-0 loss to Lawrenceville on April 23. King took the loss. He struck out five batters, and allowed seven runs and six hits in six innings. King also had one of the team's hits, while James Bird and Peters had the other two.

PDS was scheduled to play at Morristown-Beard on April 30, and will return home to face Peddie on May 1 at 4:15.

Hun Tops Rutgers Prep; To Face Steinert in MCT

Hun rallied for a 5-2 deficit and scored nine runs in the bottom of the fifth inning en route to a 15-5 victory over Rutgers Prep on April 22. The game ended on the ten run rule with two outs in the bottom of the sixth.

The Raiders trailed 1-0 in the bottom of the first, but rallied to tie the score at 1-1 heading into the top of the second. Rutgers Prep scored twice in the top of the second inning to take a 3-1 lead, but Hun posted one run in the bottom half of the inning and cut the lead to 3-2. Rutgers Prep added two runs in the top of the fifth inning, and led 5-2. The Raiders then exploded for nine runs in the bottom of the fifth and four runs in the bottom of the sixth innings to secure the victory.

Gene Pavitt earned the victory in relief for Hun. He struck out four batters and allowed five hits in 4⅔ innings, and was 2-for-3 at the plate with three RBI's. Matt Breen, Pat Quirk and Jon Butts all drove in two runs apiece, while Emery Mueller and Matt Stillitano both scored three runs.

The Raiders were scheduled to play at the Academy of New Church on May 1, and will face Steinert in the Mercer County Tournament at 2:30 this Saturday.

PHS Tennis Loses First of Season

The Princeton High tennis team lost its first match of the season last Saturday, 3-2 to Milburn in the Delbarton Invitational. The Tigers rebounded that same day with a 3-2 victory over Moorestown. It was the second victory of the week for Princeton over the South Jersey power.

Chris Hoeland was the lone singles winner for Princeton against Milburn. He defeated Dave Kahn 7-5, 6-1. Chad Maisel and Ted Distler claimed the Tigers other victory at first doubles with a 3-6, 6-2, 6-4 win over Matt Berg and Andrew Mackessy.

Hoeland defeated Moorestown's Sam Penziner 6-0, 6-3, leaving Hoeland as the lone singles winner once again for PHS. Maisel and Distler defeated Mike Lohr and Wes Howe 6-1, 6-2 at first doubles, while Nate Abraham and Brent Willig defeated Andrew Lang and Adam Kravitz 6-4, 6-3 at second doubles.

Princeton thumped Notre Dame 4-1 last Friday. Greg Wu and Abraham both earned victories at singles, while Maisel and Distler won at first doubles, and Willig and Eli Shindleman won at second doubles.

The Tigers downed Montgomery 4-1 on April 24. Shatashvili, Wu and Hoeland all earned singles victories. Distler and Maisel won 7-5, 7-5 at first doubles, while Shindleman and Abraham suffered the only loss of the afternoon for PHS at second doubles.

Princeton escaped with a 3-2 victory over Moorestown last Thursday, thanks to consecutive doubles victories. Maisel and Distler won 6-7 (7-9), 6-2, 7-6 (8-6) at first doubles, while Willig and Abraham won 7-6 (7-4), 6-1 at second doubles. Hoeland also earned a critical 7-5, 6-4 win at third singles.

The Tigers are currently participating in the Mercer County Tournament, which began last Monday. Full coverage of the tournament will be included in the 5/8 edition of Town Topics.

PDS Tennis Drops Saddle River 4-1

The Princeton Day tennis team defeated Saddle River 4-1 last Saturday. Jon Headley led the charge with a 6-0, 6-0 victory. Scott Rosenberg was also a winner at second singles, while the first doubles team of Trevor Campbell and Rajeev Sharma was victorious. Saddle River forfeited the second doubles position.

Rosenberg secured the only victory for PDS at third singles in the Panthers' 4-1 loss to Peddie last Thursday. He defeated Anthony Passannante 6-1, 6-3. Headley lost 6-2, 7-5 at first singles, and Dmitri Russell lost 6-0, 6-1 at second singles. Campbell and Sharma lost by injury default at first doubles, while Jafari and Jackson lost 6-3, 5-7, 6-1 at second doubles.

PDS 3-4 was scheduled to participate in the Mercer County Tournament, which began last Monday. Full coverage of the tournament will be included in the 5/8 edition of Town Topics.

White Sox Win 7-2 in A-Minor Baseball Action

The En Route White Sox defeated the Palmares Reds 7-2 in Princeton Little League A-Minor baseball action on April 24. Colby Haring pitched four innings of one hit ball and earned the victory with seven strikeouts. Erik Cole had two hits for the White Sox. Luke Cordonnier had two hits for the Reds, including a single and a double. Seven different players scored for the White Sox. Sung-Ho Youn and Marcus Budline scored the only runs for the Reds.

The Reds rebounded with a 9-3 victory over the A-Minor Diamondbacks last Saturday. Eamon Fahey hit a homerun for the Reds, and Colin Simonelli earned the victory on the hill. Aaron Wishnick had two triples for the Diamondbacks.

In other A-Minor games, the Woodwinds Athletics defeated the Royals 8-3 last Saturday. The Athletics jumped to an early five run lead on their way to victory. Michael van Itallie earned the win with seven strikeouts, while Thatcher Foster and Kevin Hastings each collected a single and a double to lead the Athletics' offense. Owen Wilson had two hits and pitched three strong innings for the Royals.

In the Majors Division, the NYSC Cardinals defeated the Phillies 9-4 behind Eric Peterson's four hit complete game. Warren Dunton and Kyle Parsons had key RBI's for the Cards. Trevor Horan and James Mooney led the Phillies with two hits apiece.

The Yankees defeated the Braves 3-2 in eight innings behind pitcher Gavin Escobar, who threw six innings before reliever Eric Conoscenti earned the victory with two strong innings of work.

The Red Sox defeated the Dodgers 3-2 on the strength of a complete game thrown by Billy Page and good late inning defensive play which was keyed by Holden Warriner. Jordan Allington pitched three shutout innings for the Dodgers.

Laudenberger Fans 13; PDS Blanks Purnell

Lisa Laudenberger struck out 13 batters, collected four hits, including a double and a triple, and drove in three runs to lead the Princeton Day School softball team over Purnell 14-0 on April 23. The Panthers scored two runs in the first inning, four in the fourth, and eight runs in the sixth to seal the victory. Sarah Fort was 3-for-4 with a double and two RBI's, Elif Sen was 3-for-5 with three doubles and two RBI's, Stephanie Costa was 3-for-4 with a triple and two RBI's, and Cat Tomasulo was 3-for-5 with three RBI's.

PHS Tops WW-P N 5-1 in Softball

Princeton's Clare Krulewicz fanned 13 West Windsor-Plainsboro North batters and helped lift the Tigers to a 5-1 victory over the Knights on April 24. Teammate Britney Russell was 2-for-3 with one RBI, while Laura Burke and Jamie Cipriano added one RBI apiece in the win.

The Tigers stint in the Mercer County Tournament was a short one after they were bounced by Steinert 8-0 last Saturday. Krulewicz took the loss for PHS, which is now 3-6. The Tigers were scheduled to host Notre Dame on May 1, and Ewing on May 3. Both games will be played at Community Park, and will begin at 4.

Hun Softball Hits Slump With 2 Losses

Hun was stunned by Hightstown 4-1 on April 24, giving the Rams their first win and the Raiders their first loss of the season. Czarnecki struck out 11 batters in the loss, and had an RBI double that brought Hun to within one run (2-1) in the sixth inning. The Red and Black could get no closer.

The Raiders lost their second straight game, this time in a 3-2 eight inning affair with the Blair Academy. Hun led 2-0 after two innings, but Blair rallied for two runs in the sixth and one in the eighth to win the game. Czarnecki lost her second straight game and is now 8-2.

Hun was scheduled to participate in the Mid Atlantic Prep League Tournament on May 4-5, and will play a regular season contest, at home against Montgomery, on May 6 at 4.

Mother's Day Greetings To Aid Homeless Moms

This Mother's Day, HomeFront, a non-profit organization serving homeless families in Mercer County, is offering a special greeting card to honor one's own mother, and to help another — a mother without a home.

Under the plan, with every contribution of $25 to HomeFront, a special Mother's Day card is sent to the donor's mother (or someone special) honoring her by the gift given in her name.

HomeFront then gives the money to a homeless mother to allow her to purchase some of the basic necessities of life for her children.

The words on the card read: "You gave me life and love, and taught me to give back by giving to others. Today I honor you with a gift of the spirit. I have made a donation in your name to help homeless mothers give their children some of what you gave me. This is a small thing in itself, but it is also a beginning. Love grows when you share it. Thank you for your love. Happy Mother's Day"

HomeFront's mission is to help homeless families in Mercer County return to independence. Founded 10 years ago, HomeFront has helped more than a thousand families become independent. HomeFront provides shelter and basic needs such as food and furniture, and tools for independence like job training and transportation.

To make a donation call HomeFront at 989-1003, write 2265 Brunswick Avenue, Lawrenceville 08648, or e-mail homefront@homefrontnj.org. Cards are also available at MarketFair, Pennington Market and McCaffrey's.

FOOD AND WARMTH FOR HOMEFRONT: Employees at U.S. Trust and students at Princeton Academy of the Sacred Heart joined together to support HomeFront by sponsoring dinners for homeless living in motels along Route 1 and collecting linens and blankets to donate to families in need. Shown, from left, are Maureen Mahler of U.S. Trust; Jack Orlowski-Scherer, 8, a student at Princeton Academy; Connie Mercer, director of HomeFront; Karen DeTrolio of U.S. Trust; Dylan Meagher, 8, a student at Princeton Academy; and Scott Gasparini of U.S. Trust.

Lisa Beamer to Speak At Rotary Club Meeting

Lisa Beamer, wife of Todd Beamer, one of the heroes of September 11 Flight 93, will speak at a luncheon at the Hyatt Regency Princeton, on Friday, May 10.

Sponsored by the Princeton Corridor Rotary Club, the luncheon will benefit the Todd Beamer Foundation, a non-profit organization whose mission is to meet the long-term needs of children who lost a parent in the events of September 11, 2001; assist future victims of terrorism; and continue Todd's passion for mentoring and equipping youth to make the same heroic choices he did throughout his life.

Lisa Beamer will discuss September 11, the aftermath, her visit to the Capitol during President Bush's address to Congress, and the healing and rebuilding process. Ms. Beamer, whose desire is to use the heroic acts of her husband to help America and all people affected by Terrorism, has chosen to speak out and raise consciousness for those directly affected by acts of terrorism,

The cost for the luncheon is $30. Call Herb at Princeton Air Conditioning, 799-3434, for reservations.

The Mid-NJ Chapter, American Society for Training & Development will hold its May meeting, a continental breakfast, at Princeton Courtyard Marriott, on Tuesday, May 7, from 8 a.m. until 11:30 a.m.

Dr. Karen Lawson will speak on "Using Active and Creative Training Techniques to Enhance Trainer Effectiveness." Dr. Lawson is president of Lawson Consulting Group, Inc., Lansdale, Pa., a firm specializing in organization and management development. Her hands-on, interactive presentation is designed to help trainers enhance their skills in delivering both technical and non-technical training programs.

The fee for members will be $25, guests $35. Contact Carol Rehm to register: phone 279-4818, Fax (917) 369-7744, or e-mail crehm@bloomberg.net.

The Washington Crossing Audubon Society will sponsor two free field trips on the weekend of May 4 and 5.

On Saturday, May 4, Lou Beck and Brad Merritt will lead a trip to Roebling Park beginning at 8:30 a.m. Roebling Park is a Mercer County Park adjacent to the Hamilton/Trenton marsh. Participants will follow trails in this rejuvenated park and look for migrating warblers and marsh birds.

On Sunday, May 5, Lou Beck and Charles Brine will lead a field trip to Garret Mountain Reservation, a Passaic County Park located just south of Paterson. This park can be an excellent spot to observe spring songbird migration.

Call Lou Beck at 737-0070 for further information and directions on both trips.

Mothers & More will meet on Thursday, May 16 at 7:30 p.m. at the Lawrence Day School on Carter Road.

The topic is "What to Know and Ask When Picking a School for Your Child." Barbara Moses and Judy Bash from the Jewish Community Center in Ewing will talk about the questions parents should ask when enrolling children in nursery schools to pre-K.

"Computer Graphics: Almost Reality" will be the topic of a presentation by Douglas Dixon to 55PLUS at 10 a.m. on Thursday, May 2, at the Jewish Center, 435 Nassau Street.

Mr. Dixon's talk will focus on the annual ACM SIGGRAPH computer graphics conference where the latest research results and computer-generated animation is revealed. His presentation will take the form of video collections from recent conferences.

Dr. DeForest Soaries Jr.

Dr. DeForest "Buster" Soaries, Jr. will be the featured speaker at a breakfast sponsored by the Republican Association of Princeton at the Nassau Club, on Tuesday, May 7, at 7:30 a.m.

Dr. Soaries was New Jersey Secretary of State during Governor Christie Whitman's administration and was a special adviser to the Governor. He is the senior pastor of the First Baptist Church of Lincoln Gardens in Somerset and was formerly assistant pastor of Shiloh Baptist Church in Trenton. A graduate of Fordham University, he received a Doctor of Ministry Degree from United Theological Seminary.

The public is welcome. There is a $15 charge for the breakfast. Call 924-3829.

Harold T. Shapiro, Princeton University President Emeritus and Professor of Economics and Public Affairs, and Douglas H. Palmer, Mayor of the City of Trenton, will be honored on Thursday, June 13, at the National Conference for Community and Justice-New Jersey Region (NCCJ-NJ) Princeton Area Capital Chapter Humanitarian Awards Dinner.

Dr. Shapiro and Mayor Palmer will be recognized for their efforts on behalf of individuals of all cultural, ethnic and religious backgrounds.

The gala will be held at the Doral Forrestal at Princeton, 100 College Road East. The reception will begin at 6 p.m., followed by dinner at 7 p.m.

NCCJ is the nation's premier human relations organization. Founded as the National Conference of Christians and Jews, it has been battling bias, bigotry and racism in the U.S. since 1927. NCCJ promotes understanding and respect among all races, religions and cultures by bringing diverse people together for dialogues that improve the human relationships within communities through advocacy, conflict resolution and education.

Individual tickets are $125, with Contributor, Supporter, Sponsor and Benefactor tickets and tables also available. Information and tickets may be obtained by calling (732) 745-9330 or the chapter co-chairs: Katherine Kish, President of Market Entry, Inc., and Dr. David L. Holmes, President and Executive Director of Eden Institute Foundations, Inc.

The Princeton Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, will meet on Saturday, May 11 at 11:30 a.m. at the Nassau Club, 6 Mercer Street. The meeting will begin with a luncheon followed by the annual meeting of the members of the chapter.

Call Helen Evatt at 924-0872 for reservations. DAR membership information can be obtained by contacting Ruth Burkley, Registar, at 896-3880.

The Astrological Society of Princeton will meet on Sunday, May 5, at 2:30 p.m. at Educational Testing Service, Anrig Hall, P-016. (Take rear entrance, at the intersection of Rosedale and Carter Road.)

Robert Hand will speak on "The Chart of the Modern Era." His lecture will discuss the great conjunctions of Jupiter and Saturn which occur every several hundred years, and which begin a new historical epoch. The lecture will focus on the latest of these conjunctions in the 18th century.

Mr. Hand is a professional astrologer. He is a member of the National Council for Geocosmic Research and the editor of its monograph series.

A social hour will follow the lecture. The public is welcome to attend. A donation is requested at the door. Call 924-4311 for information.

The Princeton Chapter of the Embroiderer's Guild of America will meet on Sunday, May 5, from 1 to 4 p.m. in the Wilson Room at The Windrows at Princeton Forrestal.

The program will be "Introduction to Stumpwork." Call Monica Cavano at 392-1848 for directions/information.

CHESSforum

Robert James (Bobby) Fischer dominated the chess scene for most of the 60's and the early 70's. During a time when it was unheard of for anyone to defeat Fischer, Grandmaster (GM) Edmar Mednis achieved this universal goal.

Solution at bottom
White to mate in two.

Last February, GM Mednis passed away due to complications with pneumonia at age 64.

GM Mednis made his name in America as a commentator for the 1972 World Championship match between Fischer and Spassky. He later went on to advise other players on Fischer's weaknesses.

Later in his life, he was a loyal contributor to Chess Life, the magazine of the US Chess Federation. His column, "Opening Forum," has helped many young players get to the middle game with a usable position.

This week's game exemplifies Fischer's dominance during that time period. Some suggestions: 15.Qd2 is better than putting the queen on e1. On d2, the queen permits the connection of the rooks, a key to proper development. 29. Ne2 maintains white's slight advantage and is a much better choice than 29. Qxd6, which loses immediately.

Although Mednis lost to him in this game, he would use his analysis to defeat Fischer a year later. Remember to keep recording your games.

Gulick Farm

the creation of a small three-quarter acre lot within the ten acres which will enable Mr. Gulick to build a new residence for his family on the property.

The Township's Historic Preservation Officer, Christine Lewandoski, said, "We are very happy that the Township has decided to preserve this property and guarantee its open space."

Robert von Zumbusch, a member of the Township's Historic Preservation Commission, said, "The preservation of the farm, the buildings, and the context of the buildings has been considered extremely important for a long time."

According to Mr. Schmierer, the frontage along Princeton-Kingston Road (Route 27) will be preserved, though residents will have access to the property off Dodds Lane.

Mr. Schmierer also stated that of the required $2.7 million funding for the proposed deal, $1.5 million will come from the state Green Acres program and the New Jersey Historical Trust. The remaining $1.2 million will be raised through the issuance of 20-year bonds, and the repayment of the principal and interest of the bond will occur through the Township's Open-Space Fund.

In addition, the Gulick Family Historical Trust Fund will be established, and the Township will function as a third party beneficiary in the trust.

Gulick Farm is, according to Mr. Schmierer, one of the most historically significant locations within the Township. Mr. von Zumbusch said, "It is most likely the earliest settlement in what is now Princeton Township."

According to a report prepared for the Historical Preservation Commission by Heritage Studies in 1998, the land was first settled in 1683 by Henry Greenland, who had emigrated from England in 1662 and who ran a tavern and an inn for travelers within his house.

The property also served as the site of a meeting in 1687 in which representatives from East and West Jersey agreed to terms for drawing a boundary line between the two territories. Although that boundary was later superceded, much of its course survives, and it is marked locally by Province Line Road.

Between 1790 and 1793, the Gulick Farm was acquired by John Gulick, who served in the Revolutionary War and during the Whiskey Rebellion of 1794. Known as "the Major," he operated a stage line between New York and Philadelphia along King's Highway and was an Incorporator of the Princeton and Kingston Branch Turnpike, which opened in 1807.

Eventually, the ownership of the property passed to Bertrand Littell Gulick, a prominent public figure who acted as both the mayor of Princeton and later as a state assemblyman. The farm then passed to his son, Bertrand Littell Gulick Jr., who served in World War I and was, like his father, the Township's mayor.

Currently owned by his son, Benjamin Gulick, the property is on both the State and National Historical Registers.

COMMUNITY EDUCATION

It's not just a program – it's our commitment to you and your family.

"Fresh Start" Smoking Cessation Program

Dates: May 2, 9, 16 and 23, 2002
Time: 7:00 to 8:30 p.m.
Location: Ground Floor Conference Room, Princeton Hospital
Cost: $40
Program Leader: Geri Karpiscak, Coordinator of Cardiac and Pulmonary Rehabilitation
This 4-session program provides information, support and behavior modification techniques to people who want to stop smoking. Everyone who attends will learn how to become a non-smoker and stay that way. The program was developed by the American Cancer Society.
Please call 609-497-4480 to register or for more information.

Breast Cancer Screening

Date: May 15, 2002
Time: 5:00 to 8:00 p.m.
Location: Mammography Suite, Ground Floor, Princeton Hospital
Cost: $40
Screening will include mammogram, clinical breast examination by a physician, and information about breast cancer.
Please call 609-497-4480 to register.

Osteoporosis Screening and Lecture

Dates: May 15, 2002
Time: 5:00 to 6:30 p.m. Screening
6:30 to 8:00 p.m. Lecture
Location: Ground Floor Conference Room, Princeton Hospital
Speakers: Leroy Hunninghake, M.D., and Patricia Graham, M.D.
The speakers will discuss risk factors for osteoporosis, ways to prevent the disease, and effective methods of diagnosis and treatment. They will also answer questions. Whether you're concerned about a family history of osteoporosis, or just want to learn how to prevent bone loss as you age, you won't want to miss this important program. This event is free of charge.
Please call 609-497-4480 to register for the screening — limited availability.

Car Seat Safety Checkpoints

Dates: May 18, 2002
Time: 10 a.m. to 2:00 p.m.
Location: St. Gregory the Great Church, 4680 Nottingham Way, Hamilton Square, NJ
Studies have shown that 4 out of every 5 child safety seats are installed improperly, placing children at a high risk of injury or worse in the event of a car accident. Learn how to keep your children safe at a child car seat safety checkpoint. Each checkpoint will be conducted by state and local police officers and nurses from The Medical Center at Princeton who have undergone an intensive 32-hour training program to become Certified Child Passenger Safety Technicians. They will check your child safety seat and show you how to properly install it and maintain it over time.
For more information, please call 609-497-4435.

Questions about Plastic Surgery: Consult with Dr. Marc Drimmer

Dates: May 23, 2002
Time: 6:00 p.m.
Location: Ground Floor Conference Room, Princeton Hospital
Ask about the latest techniques, results and benefits, recovery times and anything else you want to know. Board certified plastic surgeon Marc Drimmer, M.D. will answer your questions.
This event is free. Please call 609-497-4480.

Stroke Alert: Stroke Risk Assessment Program

Dates: May 24, 2002
Time: 12:30 p.m. to 4:30 p.m.
Location: Ground Floor Conference Room, Princeton Hospital
Strokes are the third leading cause of death in the United States. This program, designed by the American Stroke Association, will assess your risk of stroke through several factors. Physicians and nurses from the Medical Center will check your blood pressure, pulse rate and rhythm, review your personal and family medical history, assess your lifestyle risk and more. You will also receive an action plan for medical referral/lifestyle change if necessary. Refreshments and educational materials will be provided.
This program is free of charge, but registration is required. Space is limited, so call to make your appointment: 609-497-4480.

OBITUARIES

Leroy B. Smith, 83, died Friday at The Medical Center at Princeton.

Born in Tillman, S.C., he was a long-time Princeton resident.

He attended Savannah, Ga., schools and worked for Princeton Township before retiring.

Mr. Smith was an Army veteran of World War II and a member of American Legion Post 218.

Son of the late Lee Benson and Rose B. Smith, he is survived by his companion, Ida Brown; a brother, Melvin Smith of Philadelphia; three sisters, Mamie Benson, Doris Benson and Areatha Griffin; and nieces and nephews.

The funeral will be 11 a.m. Thursday, May 2, at Campbell Funeral Home, 1225 Calhoun Street, Trenton, with Elder John Taylor, of New Beginnings Christian Worship Center, officiating.

Burial will be in Princeton Memorial Park, Washington Township.

Calling hours will be from 9 a.m. until the service Thursday at the funeral home.

Mary L. Hackler, of Skillman, died April 21 at Princeton Medical Center.

She was a graduate of Illinois Institute of Technology with a degree in Chemical Engineering. She worked in Engineering for Coleman Instruments, Inc. in Maywood, Ill., before moving to Skillman in 1965.

She joined Mobil Corporation in Hopewell and served in its Engineering Department for 18 years before retiring in 1998.

Mrs. Hackler served several years on the Montgomery Township Environmental Commission, completing a study on ground water and percolation. She was a past member of the American Association of University Women.

Following retirement from Mobil, she served several years as Treasurer for the 1860 House Montgomery Cultural Center.

In 1963, she married David L. Hackler and adopted his five children, Nora M., Ellen M., Anne M., James W., and Joseph L.; she later gave birth to daughters Jean M. and Jennifer M. She is survived by these offspring, 14 grandchildren; and a brother, James T. McNamara of Orland Park, Ill.

A memorial service will be held at 1860 House on Friday, May 17 at 5 p.m.

Memorial contributions in lieu of flowers may be made to the 1860 House, Montgomery Arts & Cultural Center, Skillman 08558.

Arrangements are under direction of the Kimble Funeral Home.

Alice F. Asbury, 91, of Princeton, died April 25 at the Princeton Nursing Home.

She worked as a self-employed seamstress.

She is survived by her husband of 57 years, David Asbury; daughters Linda Schwarz of Princeton, Geraldine Gercak of Hurricane, Utah, and Marjorie Asbury of Hurricane, Utah; seven grandchildren; and four great grandchildren.

Arrangements were under the direction of Kimble Funeral Home.

Arthur V. Van Horn died April 20 at Fairfax Nursing Center, Fairfax, Va.

Born in South Amboy, he was raised in Princeton and lived here until moving to Fairfax in 1999.

He was an electrician for Princeton University for 41 years and was also a member of American Legion Post 76 and Mercer Engine Co. No. 3.

He is survived by his wife, Mary C. Van Horn; daughter Constance G. Lacey; and two grandsons and a nephew.

A memorial service will be held on May 3 at 1 p.m. at Everly Funeral Home, 10565 Main Street, Fairfax, Va.

In lieu of flowers, contributions may be made to Princeton First Aid and Rescue Squad, Inc., 237 North Harrison Street, Princeton 08540.

Mary L. Hackler of Montgomery died April 21 at The Medical Center at Princeton.

She graduated from Illinois Institute of Technology with a degree in chemical engineering.

Family Advice Column:

COPING WITH FEAR

By the Rev. Peter K. Stimpson

The Rev. Peter K. Stimpson

QUESTION: Since last September 11th, I feel like I'm under a blanket of fear. I'm scared of flying and opening my mail. I was always a little nervous, but now it's terrible. How does somebody cope with fear?*

ANSWER:

1. What is Fear? Our emotions react to thoughts, real (September 11th) or imagined ("My next plane will probably be hijacked"). To control the fear, you must first control the idea driving it.

2. Get the Facts: If there are 4,000 flights each day, what are the odds that your flight will be hijacked? How many people live in your area, and how many have been exposed to anthrax?

3. Get the Facts Once: Try not to watch repeated news accounts that go over and over the same upsetting information. Your fear and their ratings go up at the same time.

4. Stay with the Present: Stop crossing your bridges before you come to them, letting your imagination run amuck by picturing you in the middle of a terrorist attack, or even your boss wanting to fire you, or your spouse wanting a divorce.

5. Keep track of your Thoughts: If you are always nervous, try writing down the ideas that upset you. Are they loaded with negative or cynical distortions like "I never get a break" or "the government can't really stop the terrorists"? Then remove them, and replace them with more realistic and positive ideas that will result in less fear and more control.

6. Take Back Control: Instead of negatively whining, how about being positively proactive? Don't shrink your world to shrink your anxiety, but instead try to maintain your normal routine, let laughter lighten your anxiety by watching comedies on TV, get enough rest, eat well, and get your mind off your own worries by volunteering at the Red Cross or your church.

7. Try to Relax: Use deep breathing and meditation to learn how to focus on one thought vs. allowing your mind to be distracted and tortured by many scary, but imagined, possibilities. Remember, while possible, they are not probable.

8. Don't Overmedicate: While medications (Xanax, Valium, Ativan, Librium) can temporarily help, they can be addictive, but cannot eliminate real or imagined threats.

9. Do Seek Support: Talk to people you trust: family, friends, neighbors, people at church, synagogue, or work. Suppressing feelings only suppresses healing.

10. Seek Counselling? If fear is gobbling up your life, if you rarely go out, if you are easily startled, if you have tension headaches, grind your teeth, clench your jaw, have a hard time concentrating and making decisions, and those whom you trust tell you that things are out of control, then yes, let a therapist help you help yourself.

*This Wellness column is funded through the generosity of a grant from the J. Seward Johnson, Sr. Charitable Trusts. If you would like Father Stimpson to answer a question of yours on family life, daily living or emotional health, you can write to him at: Trinity Counseling Service, 22 Stockton Street, Princeton, NJ 08540. PEOPLE

Sean Cannon, son of Christopher and Patricia Cannon, Skillman, a sophomore at Franklin & Marshall College, Lancaster, Pa., has spent the past year working on a feature-length film, Donger Girls.

His script, his second feature-length effort, was written last summer and focuses on a series of relationships between seemingly average college students. These students, however, make up a complex ring of villains, manipulative women, and vigilante detectives.

Sean Cannon

Mr. Cannon plans to continue his work in film — both behind and in front of the camera. He is planning on attending New York Film Academy this summer to produce four or five short films over the summer, and will spend his junior year in England at East Anglia.

A theater major, he is a 2000 graduate of Rutgers Preparatory School. He is a member of the John Neuman society and a tour guide.

Dorothea Coccoli Palsho, Cleveland Lane, was honored at the "Salute to the Policy Makers Dinner" hosted by Executive Women of New Jersey.

Executive Women of New Jersey (EWNJ) promotes the advancement of women to the highest levels of business, the professions and government. Biannually, EWNJ hosts a dinner to honor female directors and officers of major corporations with significant facilities in New Jersey.

Mrs. Coccoli Palsho is vice president of strategic marketing for Dow Jones & Company and serves on the board of directors of Factiva, a Dow Jones and Reuters company. Previously, she was vice president of strategy and marketing for the Electronic Publishing Group of Dow Jones Interactive Publishing, vice president/circulation, The Wall Street Journal, among many other management positions.

In 1999, Mrs. Coccoli Palsho was selected for the Internet Innovator Award from Technology New Jersey, and in 1998, she testified before the U.S. House of Representatives Subcommittee on Telecommunications, Trade and Consumer Protection on the issue of electronic commerce; that same year she was selected to serve as a judge for the McKinsey Awards, which determine the best articles published in the Harvard Business Review. In 1995 she was inducted into the Academy of Women Achievers.

Mrs. Coccoli Palsho received a bachelor's degree in business administration, summo cum laude, from Villanova University in Pennsylvania and an M.B.A., with academic distinction, from Temple University in Philadelphia. She and her husband, Edward Palsho, an attorney, have two sons, Christopher and Ryan, and a stepdaughter, Erika.

David Schmidt

At its most recent members meeting, David Schmidt of West Windsor was elected to the Board of Trustees at First Church of Christ, Scientist, Princeton. He will serve a three-year term.

He is vice president, sales operations at Peterson's, which is part of the Thomson Corporation. Peterson's is a provider of printing and online information regarding post-secondary institutions and their programs, distance learning, test preparation materials, advanced placement preparatory information, and career-related information.

Christopher P. Marsland, Neil Court, a senior in art and design at Southern Illinois University Carbondale, has won a $1,475 grant for a research project titled "Ferrous Metals Enameling."

He is one of 20 undergraduate students selected by the provost's office and the Office of Research and Development Administration to take part in the Undergraduate Research/Creative Activity Awards program, which teams students with faculty mentors for a year of work on projects the students have proposed. Grant support pays for materials and services needed to complete the work.

Supervised by faculty mentor Tanya M. Synar, Mr. Marsland will build an electric kiln at the SIUC Foundry for use by sculpture students and faculty who want to fuse porcelain enamels onto works of steel and cast iron.

Johnsons Are Honored As Humanitarians of Year

Princeton's Seward and Joyce Johnson will be honored as Humanitarians of the Year at the 27th annual Renaissance Ball, a black-tie fundraiser hosted by the Philadelphia/Delaware Valley Chapter of the Crohn's & Colitis Foundation of America (CCFA). The event will take place on Saturday, May 4, at 7 at the Crystal Tea Room in the Wanamaker Building in Philadelphia.

The Johnsons have played a vital role in furthering the understanding and treatment of Crohn's disease and ulcerative colitis — chronic digestive disorders of the small and large intestines collectively known as inflammatory bowel disease (IBD) — by funding a pilot study at the University of Pennsylvania's IBD Center. The results of this study enabled researchers to obtain a substantial grant from the National Institutes of Health to continue their studies.

Ms. Johnson is the founder of Deep End Productions, which is involved in theater, television, and classical music productions. Mr. Johnson is CEO of Harbor Branch Oceanographic Institution, where he started the division of biomedical research which has investigated a potential cure for breast and cervical cancer. He is the founder of the Johnson Atelier Technical Institute of Sculpture, the CEO of Atlantic Foundation, and has served on many boards of art institutions.

One of the top-selling living sculptors in the world, Mr. Johnson's life-size cast bronze figures are on display in five continents. His "Grounds for Sculpture" park in Hamilton was cited by the New York Times as one of the top sculpture parks in the nation.

The public is invited to join the Johnsons at the Renaissance Ball. Tickets are available for $300 per person. Attendees will have the opportunity to eat, drink, and dance to live music while helping to raise funds for the local charity. For more information concerning the Ball or CCFA, call (215) 396-9100.

Barbara A. Byrne, CPA Named Volunteer of Year

Barbara A. Byrne, CPA, received the Volunteer of the Year Award presented by the Greater Mercer County Chamber of Commerce at its Annual Dinner.

Barbara Byrne is a supervisor accountant in the Princeton headquarters of Druker, Rahl and Fein, a member of the Mercadien Group. A founding member of the firm's Entrepreneurial Services Group, she is responsible for coordinating the educational needs of the firm related to small businesses. Ms. Byrne also advises clients on all aspects of business set-ups, including payroll and bookkeeping.

A frequent lecturer on business-related issues, Ms. Byrne recently took part in a small business seminar at Mercer County Community College, lecturing on "The Importance of Financial Planning for Women." Ms. Byrne is also a member of the firm's Medical Services Group, which provides physicians with progressive accounting and practice management services.

In the past, she audited the primary and general gubernatorial elections for the New Jersey Election Law Enforcement Commission. She also worked with the New Jersey State Council on the Arts, auditing the grant allocation and disbursement systems of theater groups.

Ms. Byrne is a member of the Princeton chapter of Business and Professional Women and the American Business Women's Association. She is also a frequent contributor to Profit Margins, a publication addressing tax and financial issues.

Ms. Byrne graduated from Trenton State College majoring in accounting and is a certified public accountant.

The Greater Mercer County Chamber of Commerce promotes the economic, commercial, industrial and professional welfare of Mercer County, its citizens, businesses, and organizations. The Chamber currently has 1,000 members.

Seth Mellman

Seth Mellman, Executive Producer/Director of SMP Video, was awarded the Grand Prize in the 15th Annual Videomaker/Panasonic Short Video Contest. His winning video, Find My Way Home, is featured in the April 2002 issue of Videomaker Magazine and follows the work of Mercer County's family assistance organization HomeFront and the plight of the individuals it supports.

Mr. Mellman recently relocated SMP Video to Princeton after more than 10 years in Los Angeles. SMP Video produces programs for corporate training and promotion, TV commercials, documentaries and special family and business events. Corporate clients include McCarter Theatre Center, HomeFront, Girl Scouts of Delaware-Raritan Inc. and Urbahn Architectural Associates, Inc.

The video may be viewed online at www.videomaker.com or www.smpvideo.com.

Candlewick Press, a publisher of children's books in Cambridge, Mass., has given its "I'm a Best Seller!" award to Bobbi Fishman of Micawber Books. The award celebrates booksellers who expertly guide readers to the perfect book.

Ms. Fishman will be honored with an eight-foot storefront banner and Micawber Books will receive $225 towards a celebration in her honor.

Robert Forman, Prospect Avenue, a senior at Princeton High School, has been named one of approximately 500 semifinalists in the 2002 Presidential Scholars Program. The semifinalists were selected from more than 2,600 candidates on the basis of superior achievements, leadership qualities, personal character, and involvement in community and school activities.

Final selection of the Scholars will be made by the Commission on Presidential Scholars, a group of eminent citizens appointed by the President, and will be announced in May. The Commission will select one young man and one young woman from each state, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, and U.S. students living abroad; up to 20 students from the creative and performing arts; and 15 students at-large.

Scholars will be invited to Washington, D.C., for several days in the second half of June to receive the Presidential Scholars medallion at a recognition ceremony and to participate in various activities and events in their honor.

RCN Renewal

In addition, Ralph Canina, general manager for RCN of Central New Jersey, indicated that the company is taking steps to improve customer service including pre-installation calls to ensure appointment times and post-installation follow-up calls. "We are making an effort to try to do a better job," he said.

Bernie Miller, the chair of the Joint Cable TV Committee, gave a presentation in which he outlined the deficiencies within RCN's performance to date and expressed reserved optimism about the prospect of a rebuild.

Mr. Miller stated that RCN has failed to be responsive to community programming preferences in the past and that its rates for basic service tiers are higher in Princeton than those in adjacent communities. He added that although an overhaul of the system was not mandated by contract, several RCN officials had promised in May 2000 that it would be in place within two years.

He also indicated that a study conducted by the committee to examine the past service of RCN and the future cable-related needs of the Princeton community, completed in October 2001, revealed concerns beyond cable TV.

Specifically, Mr. Miller stated that the local cable internet service, which requires the installation of an additional phone line, is "simply not satisfactory and not up to present-day standards." He added that both the institutional network, which is used by public facilities including schools, and channels for public, educational, and governmental purposes need increased support.

However, Mr. Miller conveyed confidence that the problems with the system and RCN's service could be rectified. "The issue is the rebuild," he said. "When it's done, as it has been said it will be done, then most of the shortcomings of the present system will be corrected."

More Forthcoming

Mr. Miller said that the RCN representatives had been "much more forthcoming" in their statements concerning the rebuild than in the past and he estimated that approximately 10 percent of the rebuild has been completed. In addition, he pointed to the return of WGN to the Princeton cable lineup as an indication of RCN's improved customer responsiveness.

Mandated by state law, the public hearing is part of the second phase — the municipal consent phase — within a three-step process concerning the renewal of RCN's franchise.

According to Steve Goodell, special counsel to the Joint Cable TV Committee, the first phase, in which the Princetons ascertained the cable TV needs of the community, was completed with the publication of the committee's report. On January 11, RCN responded with a formal proposal to renew its franchise to provide cable TV in the Princetons.

Monday night's public hearing, which has been extended for a period of 30 days to allow for further negotiations, will eventually lead to a recommendation on the part of Princeton officials to the state Board of Public Utilities (BPU). That decision to accept or deny re-franchisement must be rendered by June 13.

The BPU, and its subsidiary, the Office of Cable TV, retain the ultimate decision concerning RCN's re-franchising and will decide whether to issue a certificate of approval, thus completing the third and final phase of the process.

"The rebuild is at the crux of the new franchise," said Township Mayor Phyllis Marchand.

"A renewal that is tied to a rebuild will benefit both of us," asserted Mr. Steel. "You will have a rebuilt system and you will be comfortable with us as a member of the community."

In Governors Lane, one of the area's sought-after enclaves, this attractive Townhouse offers a sophisticated floor plan with graciously accommodating spaces. A welcoming light-filled vestibule introduces the living room, with crown molding and fireplace, with wood mantel; a lustrous wood floor continues into the formal dining area and then throughout the house. Nearby, the powder room. The handsome well-planned kitchen, with breakfast bar, overlooks the breakfast and family room, with built-in desk; a door opens to a charming secluded courtyard, with flowering shrubs. On the second floor, the large master bedroom, with fireplace, and bath, with double vanity, and a bedroom/study, hall bath and laundry closet. Two additional pleasant bedrooms, with oriel windows, and a hall bath complete the third floor. The finished carpeted lower level offers office and exercise areas. In Princeton. $635,000

Sotheby's
INTERNATIONAL REALTY

Providing Sellers of Fine Property a World of Advantages

Sotheby's International Realty was founded in 1976 as a real estate service for clients of Sotheby's auction house, which was founded more than two centuries before. Since that time, the company has developed into the world's leading luxury residential brokerage firm, meeting the needs of today's marketplace while remaining true to the principals of quality and service that Sotheby's was founded on.

We are known for selling some of the world's most extraordinary estates, and our comprehensive approach to selling property has proven effective for quality listings in a range of areas and prices. While we consistently maintain an average sales price of approximately $1.4 million, more than 50% of our annual sales are for properties priced under $1 million.

Sotheby's offers many unique advantages to those wishing to sell distinctive properties:

A network to provide access to a qualified, global client base

Preeminent expertise and branding in your local market

A sales force comprised of the world's most respected and successful agents

The finest proprietary marketing materials

A compelling internet presence driven by a powerful off-line brand

Cross marketing opportunities with strategic partners like Sotheby's Lehman Mortgage Services as well as Sotheby's auction house

EINSTEIN THOUGHT HERE!

PRINCETON — A rare opportunity to own a home that has property bordering Princeton's own Stony Brook. During the long, hot days of summer, Professor Einstein, out for one of his well-known strolls through town, would stop by the dock to sit and think (and cool his shoeless feet!). Although the dock is gone, the beauty of the brook could still be yours to enjoy. The home itself, built by well-known local builder, S.T. Peterson, sits high atop a gently rolling hill, nestled among tall trees and lush landscaping, with views of the brook from the front and side of the house. A traditional colonial in style, the home boasts gracious formal rooms, generously sized bedrooms, a three-season sun porch, solid oak flooring throughout and a master suite with dressing area. Think about it! The probability of a property such as this being on the market again any time soon is highly unlikely. Call today for your private showing. Marketed by Judy Moriarty. $799,900

REAL ESTATE AND YOU
By Tod Peyton

BEATING THOSE RELOCATION BLUES

Moves are right up at the top of the list of stress-producing situations, and it is not uncommon to feel a little overwhelmed by the process. You must sell your old home, pack up, leaving behind many friends and memories, then get settled in the new area.

Professional Realtors understand the difficulties - and rewards - of making a major move. By listening carefully to what you want and need, your agent will get a feel for the style of home, neighborhood location and amenities you are seeking. He or she can also point you in the right direction for information about schools, shopping, public transportation, and groups of people who share your interests. If you are considering a move, call a professional real estate agent for information about the area you would like to live in. Discuss the type of house you are looking for and your price range so that the agent can acquaint you with the available homes that will meet your criteria when you are ready to begin looking.

For dependable individual advice on buying or selling real estate, call Tod Peyton, Realtor or any Peyton Associate at 921-1550. Please feel free to stop by my office at 343 Nassau Street in Princeton.

In this handsome Colonial, fine architectural and decorative finishes - rich deep crown molding, chair-rail, and tray ceilings - give dimension to rooms of spacious proportion; a rich variety of classic window shapes spills light across gleaming hardwood floors. A grand center hall, defined by elegant columns, announces the formal rooms; a graceful center staircase fans to the second floor and an encircling gallery. The living room, with marble fireplace, opens to a delightful sunroom. Adjoining, is the library. The formal dining room is adjacent to French doors opening to a den/office. A superb gourmet kitchen, with center island, granite counters, tile backsplash and lustrous maple cabinetry, overlooks the spacious breakfast room and 2-story family room, with stunning stone floor-to-ceiling fireplace. Nearby, a full bath and the powder room. On the second floor, double doors lead to the master bedroom, with sitting area, and glamorous marble bath, a bedroom opening to a hall bath, three additional bedrooms and additional hall bath, and the laundry room. Down a step or two, a spacious sunny game room. On the rise of a picturesque country road, in Hopewell Township.
